JAPS 10 MILES FROM BATAVIA

MacArthur Fliers Kill 5000

Washington

March 5 (INS)

U. S. OFFICIAL

By JOSEPH A. BORS

The War Department today revealed that Gen. Douglas MacArthur's surprise air raid on enemy ships in Subic Bay yesterday cost the Japanese "thousands" of soldiers, possibly as many as 5000 killed or drowned.

The raid sent three enemy troopships to the bottom totaling 30,000 tons, with each vessel normally carrying from 1000 to 2000 troops, according to military estimates.

Details were revealed in a War Department communique.

At the same time, the War Department admitted a single enemy plane had dropped "several bombs" near Honolulu, but did no damage.

The text of the War Department's 126th communique follows:

"PHILIPPINE THEATER—Gen. MacArthur reports that the three large enemy vessels sunk in Subic bay by our surprise air attack on March 4 have been identified as transports loaded with Japanese troops.

"It is believed that thousands of enemy soldiers were drowned when the vessels sank, or were killed as a result of explosions of ammunition carried on board the ships.

"None of our aircraft was damaged. It was the first time since the war began that no enemy aircraft was present during an action.

"HAWAII—A single enemy plane dropped several bombs near Honolulu. The missiles were dropped from above the clouds and did no damage.

"The plane is believed to have come from a Japanese vessel west of the Hawaiian Islands. Unfavorable weather conditions, with poor visibility, hampered the search which was immediately undertaken by our aircraft.

"There is nothing to report from other areas."

Aussies Say Japs' Zero Plane Has 4 Cannon, Speed

SYDNEY, Australia, March 5 (AP)—Australian airmen who battled over Malaya say the Japanese navy Zero fighter planes are highly maneuverable, capable of speeds up to 340 miles an hour, and are armed with cannon as well as machine guns.

One Australian gunner who shot down an enemy fighter said the opposing plane mounted four cannon.

SOUTH SEAS' WAR FRONT—Japanese pincer-movements drive from (1) Bantam and (2) Indramajoe to within 10 miles of Batavia, capital city, while second column from Indramajoe pushes to within 25 miles of Bandoeng and third moves across Java toward (4) Tjilatjap, only port left open to Allies for entrance of reinforcements. Meanwhile, from (3) Rembang, Japs hit at Soerakarta in one drive and move in the direction of Soerabaja.

OFFICIAL NEWS

The Japanese drove forward with pincers movements today against Batavia and Bandoeng, having cut the railway linking those Java centers of resistance to the third focus of defense, Soerabaja, port and naval base.

The enemy was within 10 miles of Batavia, former capital, and 25 miles from Bandoeng, present seat of the government.

Occupied areas included a good airfield to base Jap fighters and dive-bombers.

There was an increasing threat that the 622-mile long island would be bisected by the invaders, already more than half way across in the Soerakarta area of eastern Java, between the defense centers, Bandoeng and Batavia, in the west, and Soerabaja in the east.

BOMB RELIEF PORT

Moreover, enemy airmen have started bombing the one good southern port through which this tortured isle could draw reinforcements.

These and other dire acknowledgements were made or implied today by the Dutch command of the United Nations troops fighting for Java's life.

It pictured the battle of Java as a confused, swirling struggle which forbade establishment of a regular fighting front.

As well as the line of attack and defense could be understood, it appeared the Japanese were executing pincers movements against Batavia and Bandoeng.

PINCERS CLAMP TIGHT

The main elements of the Batavia move appeared to be the advance from the Indramajoe landing zone westward along a railway to Krawang, 30 miles from Batavia, coupled with an advance from the western (Bantam) invasion area which had carried at least to Tangerang, 10 miles west of the city.

The Bandoeng pincers appeared to be pointed at Poerwakarta, 25 miles north and slightly west of the main objective, and Soebang, equidistant north and slightly east.

Loss of Soebang was acknowledged Sunday, within 24 hours of the start of the invasion. Loss of the other places was announced today.

BOMB ISLAND NEAR JAPAN

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts), March 5 (AP)—Imperial headquarters announced today that 30 enemy planes had attacked Minamitori Shima, a Japanese island of the Bonin group, about 1200 miles southeast of Tokyo, killing eight persons and setting a building afire.

Japanese fighters engaged the raiders, shot down seven of them and drove the remainder off, a communique said. The announcement did not give their nationality.

Tokyo, meanwhile, had its first air alarm of the war when planes—at first unidentified—were sighted off the east coast of Japan early today.

The planes subsequently were identified as Japanese, an official announcement said.

Domei broadcast the statement that "metropolitan police said residents behaved themselves perfectly, without being the least excited.

"They said that in each household members calmly turned off gas jets and attended to preparations for refuging babies and the sick, after which they joined their respective neighborhood associations of fire-fighting squads."

Minamitori Shima is about 900 miles northwest of Japanese-occupied Wake Island. It is about 3000 miles from Honolulu.

TANKS SLASH NAZIS IN TRAP

March 5 (AP)

OFFICIAL NEWS

By EDDY GILMORE

Frontline Soviet dispatches today said the Red army was throwing tanks into a successful attack against "remnants of the 16th German army" in the Staraya Russa sector.

This army has been reported encircled for days in the area just below Lake Ilmen, with the Germans struggling to bring up reinforcements.

The Russian accounts said the tanks scored particularly damaging blows against the German 502d Regiment and captured a heavily-fortified settlement where the Nazis had erected great snow walls covered with ice.

(The beleaguered 16th army—while originally made up of at least 96,000 men—"had lost 36,000 killed since the attack began" some 18 days ago, said a Stockholm dispatch to the London News Chronicle. The British radio said Germans captured about Staraya Russa reported they had gone foodless six days and described the plight of their comrades as catastrophic.

(A Stockholm dispatch to the London Daily Mail said Col.-Gen. Heinz Guderian, German tank expert, and 24,000 men had been isolated in Orel, 200 miles below Moscow, but refused a Soviet demand for surrender.)

BURMA TOWN FIRED BY JAPS

Mandalay, Burma

March 5 (INS)

OFFICIAL NEWS

British forces are fighting savagely against a Japanese vanguard near Waw, 70 miles northeast of Rangoon, while the town itself has been set afire by Japanese bombers, a Rangoon communique revealed today.

There has been little change in the general situation, which remains grave, the communique added.

A small patrol of RAF planes was said to have carried out reconnaissance flights yesterday evening, encountering and breaking up a large formation of Japanese aircraft.

One of the enemy planes was shot down. The British sustained no losses.

Meanwhile, the enemy continued to pour mechanized forces into the Pegu area, where a new bridgehead has been established after completing the crossing of the Sittang river, last natural barrier on the way to Rangoon.

30 Million Autos Get No More Tires

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—Leon Henderson told the Senate defense investigating committee today that not a pound of crude rubber would be available for new tires or retreads on passenger cars operated by ordinary citizens.

The director of civilian supplies, who is a War Production Board member, testified that this was the "most significant single statistic" among a maze of details on the rubber situation which he would offer later before the Senate investigating group.

Henderson estimated United Nations rubber requirements for the next two years would be about 2,000,000 tons whereas "the most optimistic estimate" of supply was from 1,400,000 tons to 1,500,000 tons.

NEW REDUCTIONS SEEN

He told the committee drastic new reductions were in store for civilian uses of rubber, as some is still going into such things as hose, jar rings and rubber shoes, although non-tire uses have already been reduced from an average of 17,400 tons per month to 5500 tons.

"We have got to cut 2650 tons out of the March list," he said, "and we've got to do it beginning in April."

Tenderson said "at best" it was believed that only about 7,500,000 automobiles out of the present 30,000,000 could be kept in operation over the next three years due to wearing out of tires.

Henderson said that present calculations of supplies for the United Nations "did not allow a single pound of rubber either for new tires or camelbacks (strips used for recaps and retreads) for any of the 30,000,000-odd passenger cars in this country."

Henderson explained he was appearing as a member of the War Production Board, as director of civilian supply and as administrator of the price control act, under which he has rationing power, and indicated he had asked the Senate group to hold the public hearings.

"I thank you for the chance of bringing home to the American public the gravity of the rubber situation," Henderson told the committee.

Henderson submitted an analysis of the estimated rubber supply and requirements for all of the United Nations computed on Feb. 7, which would leave a net deficit of 468,000 tons by the end of 1943.

"It obviously isn't passible," Henderson said, "in converting crude rubber into military equipment to operate out of a deficit."

Sen. Brewster (R.)of Maine asked whether there was a chance some of the rubber-producing areas might be recaptured and thus increase supply estimates of the

N. E. NURSES IN SECOND AEF TO LAND IN ULSTER

SOMEWHERE IN NORTHERN IRELAND, March 5—Two personable New England nurses laughingly revealed today that women accompanying the second AEF contingent, just landed here, got up a pool as to their unknown destination—but nobody guessed right.

Thelma Cole, a petite brunette nurse from Amesbury, Mass., said it was "a wonderful trip" and the first ocean voyage for her group.

"We're glad to be here," she declared at one of the camps, "and we wouldn't stay home for all the world."

Nurse Mary Dodge of Laconia, N. H., a blonde, said the women spent much of their time on ship trying to figure out where they were going.

"All of us named a destination," she said, "but no one guessed it would be Northern Ireland.

HARVARD UNIT THERE

"Some thought it would be England, while others chose Australia, Iceland or the Middle East. But nobody got it right."

The women's group includes a number of pretty New England nurses and a contingent of Red Cross workers wearing smart gray, red and white uniforms.

All the women accompanying the AEF were chosen especially for foreign service.

Also with the new troop arrivals are members of the famed Harvard Medical group from Boston, which achieved prominence for service in World War I.

Three brothers from Iowa were billeted today at one of the camps set up in the six Ulster counties for advance training.

All members of the same regiment, one brother is a lieutenant, one a corporal and one a private.

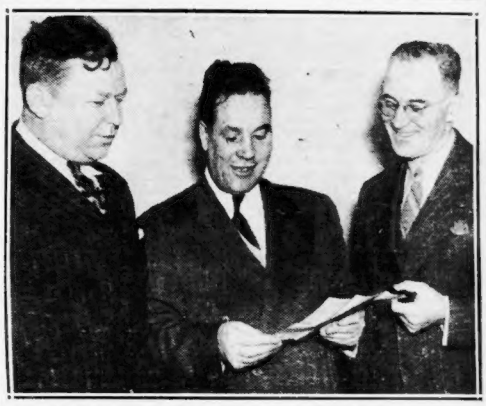
$1,000,000 PLEDGED BY TEXTILE WORKERS IN BIG VICTORY DRIVE



MORE $$$ FOR BOMBERS—The bomber fund total soars over the $13,000,000 mark as the Textile Workers Union of America in Massachusetts pledges $1,000,000. Shown are (l. to r.) Chupka, state director of the union, a CIO affiliate, Joseph Salerno and Alfred Coultherd, both CIO heads.

BUY BONDS FOR MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS!

Another MILLION-DOLLAR pledge swelled the drive to BUY MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS today when the Textile Workers Union of America in Massachusetts promised to buy $1,000,000 worth of BONDS FOR VICTORY.

The huge purchase, within 24 hours of a similar pledge by Massachusetts Aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, pushed the total reported up to $18,505,331.

John Chupka, state director of the Textile Workers Union, a CIO affiliate, announced the pledge in a letter to the BUY A MASSACHUSETTS BOMBER editor. He wrote:

"As state director of the organization I am happy to pledge $1,000,000 in BONDS FOR MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS this year.

"We join with thousands of others in extending high praise to the Boston Record-American and Sunday Advertiser for the patriotic campaign you are conducting. I hope the drive will go 'over the top,' resulting in many millions of dollars being poured into the Treasury.

"By that means, the United States will ultimately have the STRONGEST air force in the world and VICTORY will be ours."

BUY BONDS FOR MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS!

Mr. Chupka also wrote that "textile workers in this state, 50,000 strong, shortly after the drive was launched, bought nearly one million dollars' worth of BONDS and STAMPS through their respective locals.

"The state organization and many locals already have converted part of their treasury resources into BONDS."

The director closed his letter with a resounding promise which demonstrates the fine spirit exemplified by the state's textile workers:

100 PER CENT SUPPORT

"The government may count on 100 per cent support from the Textile Workers of America for the duration of the war."

With their $1,000,000 pledge the Textile Workers joined the rapidly growing ranks of patriotic Americans who are heeding their country's call for "all-out" efforts to attain FINAL VICTORY.

Their inspiring deed should serve as an example for all other organ-

ICKES RULING ON RATIONING OF GAS NEAR

WASHINGTON, March 5—Petroleum Co-ordinator Ickes said today he expected to know by the weekend whether the oil industry believed gasoline rationing by a card system already devised would be necessary, and he added that he "very likely" would follow the industry recommendations.

Also, he told his press conference, a decision is due soon on an industry recommendation for nation-wide 7 p. m. to 7 a. m. curfew on filling stations. All-day Sunday closing is also requested.

If rationing is ordered, Ickes said, it probably will be applied throughout the nation. That would also be true of a curfew order.

Some oil industry executives believe, he related, that the tire shortage would reduce civilian use of motor vehicles to such an extent that rigid curtailment of gasoline consumption would be unnecessary, while others are convinced that rationing is unavoidable. The co-ordinator added that he had received a report that the tire situation already had resulted in an 18 per cent decrease in gasoline purchases in the Chicago area. Similar decreases are reported from many other sections.

Sinkings and war diversion of tankers brought proposals today for higher gasoline, kerosene and fuel oil prices in the East.

The Petroleum Industry War Council, an advisory group of oil company executives, requested the price boost, understood to be eight-tenths of a cent per gallon for gasoline, as an offset to higher transportation costs resulting from large emergency movement of petroleum by rail tank cars.

YANKS HANG THEIR HATS IN LONDON'S TOP CLUBS

By WILLIAM J. HUMPHREYS

LONDON, March 5 (AP)—Where diplomats wined and dined in peacetime luxury and where Colonel Blimps stirred occasionally in overstuffed chairs to ring for whisky and soda, United States troops hung up their overseas caps today in London.

Two buildings overlooking a park, a one-time de luxe hotel and an exclusive hotel of Pukka Sahibs, have been stripped of their sumptuous furnishings for use by the troops.

FORMING OPINIONS

Here less than 48 hours, they were fast forming opinions.

Sergt. Joseph Kouba, 434 East 72nd st., New York city, said that Londoners seemed friendly and that the "town seems to be a little less shattered in spots than I thought it would be."

"Of course," he added, "I realize that it has been dressed up a little. I would rather be in New York, but this is our job and we will do it."

Sergt. Frank Dardanell, 408 Union st., Veronica, Pa., said he was the only "bombing and shelling" veteran in the outfit.

"I was studying medicine in Genoa until September, 1940," he explained, "and I was there when the RAF attacked and the British navy shelled the port the first time. The British also singled out a village I happened to be visiting near Genoa one day. The RAF dropped a few bombs about a quarter of a mile from me . . . They missed me—but I've got no hard feelings."

Sergt. Robert Axexander of Allegheny, ave., Philadelphia, pointed to the cracks in the walls of a large, high-ceilinged room and said: "This place was blitzed last spring they tell me. Well, if Londoners can take it we can, too. We expect it—but we are going to give them back more of the same thing."

Zolie Brooks, Courtland, Va., farmer, and Raymond Gilbert, Lynchburg, Va., truck driver, said they joined the Army "to get in on the ground floor of this war."

Sergt. Gilbert Cattanch, Nekoosa, Wis., paper mill technician, who has been assigned to military police work, said he liked the job and planned to go into police work after the war.

NO ICE CREAM

Corp. Frank Bohannan, 4203 North Ninth st., Philadelphia, and Corp. Donald Benedum, 7413 Schoyer ave., Pittsburgh, stepped forward with a complaint.

"We asked for an ice cream soda in our canteen," said Bohannan. "The girl behind the counter said 'righto' or something like that—but we didn't get any ice cream."

"I went all the way to the bottom of mine," said Benedum. "I know there's milk rationing over here and we can't expect to get the good stuff we got at home. Ala., said: "We're eclectees. And call its shots. Frozen flavoring isn't ice cream to me."

BARBARA BENNETT
Wants Custody of Five

DIVORCED WIFE SUES DOWNEY FOR CHILDREN

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor, International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, March 5 (INS)—The five little Downey children will be the storm center of a battle in the New York courts.

They are Michael, 12, adopted; Sean Morton, 10; Lorelle Ann, 8; Anthony Patrick, 7, and Kevin, 4.

Their mother, the former Barbara Bennett, one of the famed Bennett sisters, and now Mrs. Addison (Jack) Randall, has instructed her attorney, Gregson Bautzer, to file suit against the tenor, Morton Downey, for the custody of the children.

Morton Downey

Mrs. Randall told this writer today that she had recently remarried Addison Randall in the state of California so that her marriage would be legal. They had married in Mexico before her final divorce decree was granted.

"I was really forced into giving up my children," she said, "and no mother would be willing to part with her little ones, and I have suffered over not having one of my five babies with me."

Undoubtedly Morton Downey will file a cross complaint. The children are now with his parents on a farm in Connecticut.

Downey Will Fight To Keep His Children

WALLINGFORD, Ct., March 5 (AP)—Morton Downey, screen and radio singer, will fight any action by his former wife, Barbara Bennett, for custody of their five children who are living here with Downey's parents, his attorney said today.

The vehicle burst into flames and gasoline, which flowed from a broken fuel line, blazed along the street. Firemen were called to extinguish the blaze. Damage was estimated at $75.

Indict Beals, Spinelli In Lyons Bribe Case

John W. Beal, former state public works commissioner; his brother, Horatio W. Beal, and Anthony F. Spinelli, a contractor, were indicted today by the Middlesex County grand jury on bribery charges growing out of public works construction in Cambridge.

Indictments grow out of conditions which sent former Mayor John W. Lyons of Cambridge to State Prison yesterday to serve three years—principally as the recipient of bribes allegedly paid him by architects and builders.

Today's indictments also follow appearances before the grand jury by Paul Mannos, Brookline contractor and one-time Lyons' campaign manager, who was expected also to have his prison sentence invoked yseterday.

Instead, only Lyons was in court and it was stated that Mannos was a witness before the grand jury in a continuing of the probe into Cambridge affairs under Lyons.

BRIBERY IS ALLEGED

Today's report by the grand jury to Judge Lewis R. Goldberg in Middlesex Superior Court was described as a "partial presentment."

One indictment charged that Spinelli and the Beal brothers, members of an architectural firm, between Jan. 1, 1938, and Sept. 1, 1940, "conspired to cirruptly give, offer and promise Mayor John W. Lyons a gift and gratuity with intent to influence his official actions."

Only in that one of the five indictments was Horatio Beal mentioned.

In two other indictments, John W. Beal alone was charged with perjury—at Cambridge on Dec. 12, 1940, and again at Cambridge on March 12, 1941.

The remaining two indictments charged Spinelli with three counts of perjury, all at Cambridge—on Nov. 4, 1940, on Dec. 2, 1940, and on March 12, 1941.

LYONS BEGINS PRISON LIFE

Spinelli was the contractor on the Cambridge Tuberculosis Hospital project which has figured largely in the Lyons investigation. The Beal brothers are members of the architectural firm concerned, according to officials.

John W. Beal, a resident of Hanover, is at present chairma nof the legislative recess commission on traffic survey. His brother lives in Park dr., Fenway.

Meanwhile today, former Mayor Lyons, after spending the first 24 hours of his prison term in what officials described as "light solitary," was up for an interview with prison deputies and an assignment to a workshop at Charlestown.

It was expected that Lyons might be placed in the prison clothing shop.

This afternoon he had yard liberty and for the first time met some of the other 741 inmates of the prison.

M. E. Traylor, Banker, Dies In Wellesley

Mahlon E. Traylor, noted investment banker and for years a leader in Greater Boston civic and charity affairs, is dead in his home in Chestnut st., Wellesley Hills. He had been ill only a short time.

He was one of the most active leaders in the recently concluded United War Fund drive. Despite that he held the position in the War Fund of general vice-chairman, he volunteered his full time service to direct its busiest division, industry and finance. He also was director of the Community Fund.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Margaret H. Traylor; three sons, M. Edward, David A. and Robert H.; three daughters, Margaret Lucille, Carol Hadley and Elaine. Two brothers also survive; they are Frank A. Traylor of Denver, Col. and Joel T. of Indianapolis.

BIG BLACKOUT IN CAMBRIDGE AT 10 TONIGHT

With authorities of all surrounding communities lending their aid, Cambridge will have its air raid test tonight from 10 to 10:30—the longest blackout yet attempted in Massachusetts.

Just as in the big Boston test, all lights will be doused and traffic stopped for the full half hour.

Helping out the 7000 air raid wardens, police and other officials, will be the police departments of Belmont, Arlington, Somerville, Watertown, and districts of Boston.

The latter will take up stations on all arteries leading into Cambridge and re-route traffic. Autos within Cambridge boundaries must draw to the curb and the occupants either sit in their cars or go into nearby buildings.

At every fire alarm box in the city will be stationed an air raid warden, while the report center at Rindge Technical School will be fully manned. City Manager John B. Atkinson and defense officials will observe the blackout from an airplane.

Meanwhile, J. Welles Farley, executive director of the Massachusetts Committee on Public Safety, announced that 400,000 persons in 56 communities in the Worcester area will have a mass blackout next Thursday from 9 to 9:20 p. m.

The test will take place in Region 3, which includes Worcester, Marlboro, Clinton, Framingham, Natick, Douglas, Stockbridge, Lancaster and Brookfield.

WOMAN, 75, SAVED FROM CAR IN RIVER AT SAUGUS, DIES

Mrs. Anna Saul, 75-year-old grandmother and one of four members of a Roxbury family rescued last night when their automobile plunged into the Pines river at Saugus, died today at Lynn Hospital.

A trio of rescuers, who dived into the chilly waters of the stream, pulled from the nearly submerged automobile Mrs. Saul, her son, Samuel, 44; his wife, Ida, 43, and their 11-year-old daughter, Ray.

The four were trapped in their car after it plunged through a bridge rail on the Lynn marsh road.

The rescuers were Francis Abram, 21, Lynn Y. M. C. A.; Francis X. Dowling, 32, of Saratoga st., East Boston, and Leonard Cataldo, 23, of Revere st., Revere. All three were in autos which drew up just after the Saul car dove to the bottom.

Without waiting to take off even their shoes, the men plunged to the bottom, opened doors of the machine and came up with the trapped victims.

At Lynn Hospital, Saul was treated for a possible fracture of the skull, shock and immersion. The other three suffered shocks and emersion.

Saturday Evening Post, 5c For 100 Years, Goes to 10c

PHILADELPHIA, March 5 (AP)—The price of the Saturday Evening Post will be increased from 5 to 10 cents, effective with the issue of April 11, the Curtis Publishing Co. announced today.

The subscription rate by the year will rise from $2 to $3 with the same issue.

The Post has been selling for 5 cents for more than a century.

"The Post has remained at five cents far longer than the publishing conditions justified," Walter D. Fuller, president of the company, said. "The tendency in the magazine field for some time has been to a price of 10 or 15 cents

"Just as more than 200 newspapers in the last year were forced to increase their prices, so we now are forced to ask readers to pay a price nearer to the value of the product.

"In justice to our employes, our stockholders and our advertisers, the Post breaks with tradition in the matter of price just as it has broken with tradition long before in the editorial content of the magazine."

In New York, Liberty magazine announced a similar increase from 5 to 10 cents, effective with the April 18 issue, on sale April 8.

"Due to the rising paper cost, we will make the increase next month," the statement said.

Publishers of Collier's said they had no statement to make at present, but indicated they would make an announcement shortly.

Both Parents Slain By Church Organist

LOS ANGELES, March 5 (AP) — Mild-mannered, moody Courtney Fred Rogers, a bespectacled church organist, sat in a bare jail cell today as the district attorney's office reviewed his purported confession of guilt in the strange deaths of his mother and father.

Police Capt. P. M. Kunou said the 24-year-old musician admitted he killed his father, Courtney C. Rogers, 50, and chloroformed his mother, Mrs. Lillie Rogers, 44. The deaths, the father last Oct. 25, the mother on Feb. 14, 1941, had been listed as suicides.

But for a bad check passed by an acquaintance, Rogers might never have been linked with the double crime, Chief Deputy Sheriff Clem Peoples said.

HAD BITTER CHILDHOOD

Capt. Kunou quoted Rogers:

"I killed my mother because I had a bitter childhood. I wanted to get her property, but most of all I wanted to put her out of the physical pain she suffered. She had an unhappy marriage. I put her out of her misery."

Of the weird death of his father by asphyxiation in a burning house, the officer quoted Rogers:

"My father had come home intoxicated. We quarreled as we had so many times before. He threatened to kill me and burn the house. It had been a never ending conflict between us. I turned on the gas, lighted five candles and walked out." The candles set the house afire.

GOT INSURANCE

Rogers collected no insurance on his mother's death but received ownership of the house. He collected $1000 on the life of his father, and $1600 fire damage.

Later he tried to collect insurance on jewelry he reported stolen. About that time a man was arrested in North Hollywood for passing bad checks. In his house, Peoples said, police found jewelry which they traced back to young Rogers. Peoples said Rogers admitted having given it to the check writer, then reporting it stolen.

Rogers is charged with grand theft in the jewelry insurance case. The district attorney's office is holding him for investigation in the deaths of his parents.

Jersey Woman Strangled in N. Y. Mystery

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—Mrs. Marion Karil Reich, 52, wife of a Jersey City watch manufacturer, was found strangled today in a suite of a hotel in West 56th st. She was fully clothed, her hands and feet bound with telephone wire.

The suite had been occupied since Feb. 20 by a couple who registered as Mr. and Mrs. Ted Leopold of Miami Beach, Fla. Their present whereabouts were not immediately known.

Discovery of the body was made by a bellhop, who entered the suite after telephone calls had gone unanswered all night.

Identification of the body was made by the woman's husband, who last night reported to the police his wife had been missing since yesterday afternoon when, he said, she left her apartment at the Hotel Woodrow to keep an appointment with Mrs. Leopold.

Divorcee Says Hysteria Blanked Suitor Killing

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., March 5 (AP)—In the memory of Mrs. Caroline Payne, she told a jury trying her on a murder charge, hysteria has blanked out the hours that saw her erstwhile suitor transformed from a gay guest in his college town to a bleeding corpse with five bullets in the back.

The statuesque brunette of 45 spent five hours on the witness stand yesterday relating how she guided Charles O. Mattingly, 41, through his student days to political success "because I loved him."

She took him into her home in 1926 as an Indiana University law student, she said, supported him and steered him into a legal career only to lose him to a younger woman.

The state alleged jealousy impelled the divorcee to stand outside a window of Gus Nickas' home last July 5 and pump five bullets into Mattingly.

Mattingly had come to Bloomington to introduce his bride, his former secretary, to friends. As they drove past the Payne home, the defendant related, Mrs. Mattingly "looked up at him and smiled."

"It made me sick," Mrs. Payne said. "I became hysterical and lay down on the bed and when I came to I was in the county jail and John Rawlins (police chief) was the first person I recognized."

State witnesses have testified Mrs. Payne said three years ago, "If I thought there was another woman, I'd kill the son of a gun," and that Mattingly, as he slumped mortally wounded, gasped, "She got me."

Mrs. Payne testified she did not remember having told the sheriff she had seen Mattingly at the Nickas home or whether she had given a pistol to a niece.

A former newspaper executive and divorced wife of a state Senator whom she married at 17, Mrs. Payne has pleaded innocent and temporary insanity.

PRIVATE'S CAR KILLS MAN

BUZZARDS BAY, March 5—Bourne police today questioned a Camp Edwards private held in custody after his auto ran down and killed Angus J. Smith, 65, of Monument Beach, a civilian guard employed by the U. S. Engineers Office to direct traffic on the Bourne bridge.

CAPE POWER PLANT SHUT BY SABOTAGE

PROVINCETOWN, March 5—A prowler bent on sabotaging an important Cape Cod power plant early today eluded searching Coast Guards, Camp Edwards soldiers and police and caused a power shutdown in several Cape towns.

Four Coast Guards sounded the alarm when a large rock crashed through a plate glass section of the dynamo room. Several other rocks shattered two plate glass sections as Guardsmen searched the area.

A dozen men from a nearby Coast Guard station and a detachment of soldiers from Camp Edwards joined the hunt.

Police also joined the search with Lieut.-Comdr. William Ireland of Navy Intelligence, taking command.

All roads out of the area were blocked and searchers checked visiting automobiles.

DANVILLE, Ind., March 5 (AP)—The Easter bunny is going to defer to the military this year. The Danville American Legion women's auxiliary has called off its annual Easter egg hunt to save eggs and dyestuffs for the war.

CROWDED OUT

PADUCAH, Ky., March 5 (AP)—Coach Ed Peck of the Heath Pirates didn't get to see his boys drop a 42-to-37 decision to Lone Oak in a basketball tournament at Heath.

The coach went out of the gymnasium during the halves and there was such a crowd milling around the entrance he could not push his way through. Heath was leading 22 to 21 at the half.

HOW, PLEASE?

LAWRENCE, Kan., March 5 (AP)—"I'm sorry, apologized Flavia Stone, "but I can't make out what you've written here." Prof. Harold Jenkins scowled at the scrawl on the University of Kansas co-ed's examination paper.

"Why young lady," said he, "it says, 'Please write legibly.'"

THAT BARN DOOR LOCK

LARK, Utah, March 5 (AP)—Carl Bastian has about decided he'll build that silo after all. An overheated furnace set fire to 8000 bushels of grain stored in his basement. Firemen and neighbors had to shovel out 4000 bushels before they could get at the $25 worth which was burned.

New 'Trouser Top' Skirts Seen Flattering to Milady

By JANE COCHRAN
International News Service Fashion Editor

NEW YORK, March 5 (INS)—Many a woman has worn the pants in the family for years—but it's turned into the newest spring fashion today. "Trouser-top" skirts—not the trousers themselves—are the latest fashion to be introduced for the current season.

But the style—the first strictly different one to be launched this spring—is definitely feminine, despite the name. It was launched by Hattie Carnegie, in the third day of a week of style openings at New York fashion-setting stores.

"Trouser-top" skirts utilize a new method of draping front fullness. The fullness is pulled to the front in three unpressed pleats at each side after the fashion of the pleating in the tops of men's trousers—pleating that might not be there any more after the war production board finishes eliminating material.

All the fullness in the skirt is concentrated at the hip and the skirt is narrow and pulled-in at the hem. The style is used both for day and evening wear, and is flattering to the figure.

Day dresses and suits are demure with ruffled necklines, quaint eyelet embroidery and big pouf bow effects—pretty and feminine.

Henri Bendel, Inc., showed a series of navy blue lightweight wool dresses as an alternate for the traditional spring suit.

Another trend, shown by Carnegie, is toward more fully gathered skirts that dip slightly to the rear. Spring of 1942, this designer believes, will be a less formal season. Women, instead of dressing in floor-length gowns for evening, will wear street-length frocks of moire, taffeta or crepe trimmed with net, lace or flowers.

Atlantic waters was when one brother underwent an emergency appendectomy. The corporal treated the incident lightly as he came ashore carrying his full battle equipment after his transport docked.

"That old appendix was just like having a tooth out," he said. "I was okay after a few days."

An Ohio farm boy, 22-year-old Pvt. John R. Penn of Puckleville, was grinning from ear to ear as he came down the gangplank.

"Who thought a few months ago that I would get this free trip to Europe," Penn said. "The folks back home will be awful proud to hear I am here. This is going to be a great experience."

Asked what his first impression was of Northern Ireland, Penn replied:

"I like it. We had a fine trip with a swing orchestra, movies and just about everything."

Hitler Seen Putting His Eggs in One Basket for Spring

LONDON, March 5 (AP)—Dispatches from Stockholm and Zurich today quoted the editor of the Helsinki newspaper Sanomat as writing on his return from Berlin that "Hitler is putting all his eggs in one basket" for the spring offensive and that "we will witness the greatest gamble in history."

"The coming German spring offensive dominates everything in Germany," the Finnish journalist wrote. "Tanks and the Luftwaffe will be thrown into battles in numbers never before experienced."

ARMY TO DRAFT BY NUMBERS NOT AGE GROUPS

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—The Army will continue to induct men by number, Secretary of War Stimson said today, and does not plan to order induction of selective service registrants by age groups.

He said that men who registered Feb. 16 in the 20-21 and 37-44 age groups would be grouped with men previously registered about June 1, after a lottery March 17 to determine their order numbers, and induction orders would be issued by the local boards in the ratio of new registrants to old.

As an example, Stimson stated a hypothetical case of a local board asked to supply 100 men for induction. This board has 100 men left from its original list of registrants, and 600 of the new group, and therefore would draw 90 men from the new group and 10 men of the original group to make up its allotment.

In the group registered last month, Stimson told his press conference, it was estimated that there were 10 younger men, 20-21 years old, to four of the older men, of 37 to 44, who would be available for induction.

"There will be no 20-year-old class, 21-year-old class, and so on," the Secretary said, "with drafts made on the younger class until it is exhausted and then on through the succeeding classes."

Toothaches Bring War Right Into German Homes

BERN, Switzerland, March 5 (AP)—With many of the country's dentists in military service, toothaches are becoming widespread in Germany.

The Koelnische Zeitung of Cologne reported "there simply are not enough dentists." The paper urged the people to be patient, to consult a dentist only when it is absolutely necessary.

"As, for example, when the pain becomes too great or chewing is impaired seriously," the Zeitung suggested.

Stolen Car Is Clue To School Fugitive

Lynn and Revere police today requested Maine authorities to be on the watch for a stolen car, containing an escaped Shirley School inmate, believed to have been the youth who robbed 11-year-old Lester Wild of Bay rd., Revere, of $5 after offering him a ride.

Learning that the boy was going to pay a bill in Lynn, the young motorist stopped his car, took the youngster's money, then forced him out of the auto and sped away. The Wild boy memorized the registration number, however, and reported it to police.

SUPPLIES CUT, EIRE DOESN'T BLAME BRITISH

By INEZ ROBB
International News Service Staff Writer

There is no longer any train service in Eire on Sunday. And it is so uncertain on week-days that more and more citizens find local bus lines from community to community more quick and reliable than through train service.

It takes almost twice as long to go by train from Dublin to Cork now as in pre-war days. Not only is the service slow, but the trains are cold.

Before the war, Eire imported 2,500,000 tons of high grade coal annually from Great Britain, now she is able to obtain only 1,000,000 tons described mainly as slack and steam coal.

Since Eire mines only 130,000 tons of anthracite annually, her plight is serious.

In view of this inability to obtain high grade coal from England and of England's failure to absorb Eire's food surpluses which England needs so badly, I asked the spokesman if he felt that "Great Britain and America were attempting an economic squeeze-play to force Eire's hand with regard to the naval bases?"

DOUBTS ECONOMIC SQUEEZE

The spokesman studied the problem silently, and then said:

"No, in all fairness, I doubt it. We feel that England could be more generous, but we must realize that she is at war. She has to manage her economy as best she can.

"But I can say that any future use of economic weapons to starve us out will be futile. Eire is used to starvation."

But there seemed to be little grumbling over this or over the shortages of kerosene and gasoline. Eire is now getting about 40 per cent of her normal consumption of these two products.

Eire has ample cooking fats, but she is short of paraffine. Candles are difficult to obtain, and paper is almost as short in Eire as in England.

Butter is so plentiful and common house paint so scarce that in some parts of Eire farmers have invented a red paint made from butter.

Irish smokers are voluntarily rationed to three-fourths of their normal consumption.

LACK LUMBER

Wood and lumber of all kind is scarce in Eire as in England. As a result, many of Eire's furniture factories are beginning to close. Many other industries are either closing up or working half-time because of shortage of materials.

The manufacture of jute bags once gave employment to thousands. But with raw materials no longer obtainable, these factories have closed down entirely. Worsted mills have been curtailing their output, too.

At the time I visited Eire, all the above shortages were dwarfed, however, in the probability that beer and stout would soon be rationed. Press and public speculated on this likelihood, and were not comforted by the possibility that whiskey might eventually be rationed, too.

HONOR FOR N. E. FLIER KILLED IN HAWAII

"For heroism and achievement," Second Lieut. Gordon H. Sterling, Jr., of West Hartford, Ct., a member of the Army Air Corps, killed in the treacherous Jap raid on Pearl Harbor, today was posthumously awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross.

The young aviator's father and mother smiled proudly as Maj.-Gen. Sherman Miles, First Corps Area commander, pinned the medal upon Mr. Sterling's coat at the Army Base.

"He was one of the few men to whom the chance was given on that Sunday morning in December to engage the Japanese who attacked us unware," Gen. Miles told the hero flier's parents.

"He did not lose his life . . . he gave it to his country," the general continued. "In so doing he exchanged dull age for immortality."

The citation accompanying the cross, first to be awarded a New England boy, read in part:

"For heroism and achievement while participating in an aerial engagement with Japanese airplanes over water adjacent to the island of Oahu on Dec. 7, 1941, Lieut. Sterling attacked an enemy airplane which was either damaged or destroyed by his fire."

Sterling was attacked from the rear while disposing of the enemy plane and was shot down in flames.

He attended Trinity College and worked in an aircraft factory before getting his wings at Maxwell Field, Alabama, early in 1941.

SEATTLE, March 5 (AP)—A ship launching schedule under which three naval vessels will slip down the ways within 30 hours this week-end in the Seattle-Tacoma area was disclosed with approval of the 13th Naval District headquarters.

A C-3 cargo carrier type, for naval use, will be launched Saturday at Tacoma; the first of a fleet of destroyers at a Seattle yard Sunday morning and a seaplane tender across Lake Washington Sunday afternoon.

All United Nations Out Of Crude Rubber in 1943

United Nations. Henderson replied in the negative adding synthetic rubber production offered the best hope for increasing supplies.

Referring to estimates synthetic rubber production might reach 300,000 tons by 1943 and 600,000 tons in 1944, Henderson said these were a "very heroic target at which to shoot."

"Even if we get 300,000 tons of synthetic rubber next year we will have a very grave situation to face," he added.

Sen. Connally (D.) of Texas asked about the possibility that synthetic rubber production might be greater than estimates. Henderson said he saw no chance, noting it was a new industry, and must compete for materials with numerous war industries.

"It will take almost a miracle to get that synthetic rubber production," Henderson said.

While Henderson was testifying, the Senate's small business committee in another hearing was striving to find some way to keep the nation's 60,000 independent tire dealers in business so that they could continue repair and retreading services to protect and conserve tire rubber now in use.

President J. P. Seiberling of the Seiberling Rubber Co., told the committee it was absolutely essential to the nation's vital mortor transport system to maintain the independent dealers' services.

He said he believed a proper rationing system should give exclusively to the independents as much repair, retread and recapping materials as possible to save rubber now on automobiles.

We'll Find a Way To Ride "Setting," Says Henderson

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—Leon Henderson believes American ingenuity will produce something to enable motorists to travel "sitting down" even if they can't get rubber tires.

Testifying to a Senate committee, Henderson said he thought ingenuity would produce a new type of wheel or tire for automobiles which would be used "even if it bumps, even if it destroys the peace of the night, and even if it only goes 15 miles."

"This native urge — as Bill Knudsen says—to go from one place to another sitting down is not going to be destroyed by a shortage of tires," he said.

izations which want to do their part in helping rid the world of Axis aggression and brutality.

BUY BONDS FOR MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS TODAY!

"The splendid BUY A BOMBER campaign conducted by the Boston Record-American and Sunday Advertiser deserves the complete support of every red-blooded American," declared Carlton W. Griffin of Kansas City, Mo., department auditor, Grand Aerie of Eagles.

The national officer commenting further on the BUY A MASSACHUSETTS BOMBER drive, said:

"That the drive will be a success is an assured fact. The Hearst papers throughout the nation, as well as in Massachusetts, are always first in line in urging the public to support such liberty-loving campaigns."

53 AERIES JOIN IN

A total of 53 aeries in Massachusetts, with a membership approximating 53,000, will join in carrying out the Eagles' pledge of ONE MILLION DOLLARS' worth of bonds before 1942 is over.

These huge pledges illustrate what patriotic organizations in the state really can do to insure recognition of MASSACHUSETTS' contribution to the nation's war effort.

Check with the officers of your club, fraternity, factory, business firm or other organizations.

Tell them the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser, under direction of the Treasury Department, is conducting this great BUY A MASSACHUSETTS BOMBER drive in a patriotic move to help insure VICTORY.

Tell them, and all your friends and acquaintances, to BUY BONDS TODAY. Tell them the money is really just a loan. Tell them the contribution will be repaid with generous interest. Tell them it's their DUTY TO BUY BONDS.

Write the BUY A BOMBER editor, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston, and tell him of your purchases of BONDS.

Let's all join in a gigantic money-raising effort that will buy enough, and more, MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS.

Let's bomb the Axis with MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS by BUYING BONDS TODAY.

Merchants Ask More Bus Lines

Restoration of suspended railroad service and establishment of more bus routes were proposed today by the Massachusetts Council of Retail Merchants as solutions to the transportation problem threatened by the rationing.

The move for added transportation facilities was decided upon following conference with engineers of the State Planning Board.

Also under consideration as means to relieve congestion of existing transportation lines was the staggering of working hours and encouragement of midday shopping.

SCORCHED JAVA A BASE FOR WAR ON AUSTRALIA

By J. C. OESTREICHER
International News Service Foreign Editor

Batavia is going to be surrounded and cut off, Surabaya is gravely threatened and the plain of Bandung, easiest of all places on the Island of Java to defend, is now menaced by Japanese occupation of an airdrome only 22 miles to the north.

That is the situation of the Dutch East Indies island stronghold today. The outlook could not be blacker.

Only the most detailed maps permit a clear picture of the perilous situation. After considerable diligent pin-sticking on the basis of Bandung's official admissions regarding Japanese gains I am forced to the conclusion that the battle of Java is as good as lost.

Could large-scale air reinforcements be sent the tide might yet be turned. If Australia was in a position to dispatch a large expeditionary force across the Timor Sea the situation might be altered for the better.

AUSTRALIA TAXED

But Australia is taxed to the utmost to preserve her own home forces intact against the anticipated Japanese onslaught. The enemy, incidentally, has started could be used to land new defense troops.

The iron ring around Batavia itself is being tightened from east and west. The enemy has taken the town of Tangerang, athwart the railway line and only 10 miles west of the capital. In the east, the Japanese occupy Krawang, Poerwakarta, Suhang and the airdrome at Kalidjati. Surabaya is menaced by the seizure of Bodjenogro, only 50 miles to the west, and as a pivot for all future operations the Japanese now have Soerakarta right smack in the island's center.

DESTROY EVERYTHING

The distressing part of the whole matter is that the Japanese advance has ceased to be a mere "infiltration." The enemy has admitted aerial superiority, and under a canopy of fighting and bombing planes, the Japanese are driving ever deeper and in ever [illegible] numbers.

Lacking air power, there is little Gen. Hein Ter Poorten, the Dutch commander-in-chief, can do.

He can, and is destroying every bit of value on the island. But even "scorched earth" proves a good enough base for attacks on Australia. That is the Japanese second destroyed to get.

Japs Say British, U. S. Ships Sunk

ENEMY REPORT

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcast) March 5 (AP)—An Imperial headquarters communique said today:

Japanese naval forces advancing in the Indian Ocean south of Java surrounded the British destroyer Stronghold, 905 tons, off Cape Chila on March 2 and sank her.

Other Japanese naval forces sank the United States gunboat Ashville, 12700 tons, March 3. There were no Japanese losses.

Japs in Java Now 10 Mi. From Batavia

Dutch, British and United States troops.

(A Dutch government source in London, however, said there was no confirmation of this, adding:

("*It is entirely likely a few fresh troops have been added. On the other hand, we have nothing to show there has been another assault from a big invasion armada.")

The defenders evidently were fighting a losing battle although they were striking the foe when and wherever numerical superiority in the air and aground was not overwhelming.

The communique admitted the Japanese held the airdrome at Kalidjati, 25 miles north of Bandoeng headquarters of the defense military command and temporary seat of the colonial government.

In western Java, the Dutch acknowledged defense evacuation and enemy occupation of Krawang, 30 miles east of Batavia; Poerwakarta, 25 miles north and slightly west of Bandoeng, and Tangerang 10 miles west of Batavia, capital of the N. E. I., which the government has abandoned.

In eastern Java, the same communique admitted the fall of Soerakarta (Solo), 70 miles inland from Rembang, easternmost landing point of the invader. It is a railway junction more than half way across the island.

Also lost in eastern Java was Bodjanegara, 50 miles west of Soerabaja, on a main railway lead ing to that north shore naval base. Other places, too, were in Japanese hands in that region, but the communique did not specify them.

Across middle Java on the southern shore, the principal port of Tjilatjap, was bombed yesterday, the high command said, but the damage was slight.

Tjilatjap is now of great strategic importance as the last possible harbor at which reinforcements might be disembarked in comparative safety," said Aneta, authoritative Dutch news agency.

"All over Java the battle against the Japanese invasion troops is now raging," said the communique.

"Because of the peculiar character of infiltration warfare, as a result of which establishment of a regular front is completely impossible, it is difficult to give a clear review of the state of affairs.

"On the whole, however, the Japanese have numerical superiority and are advancing continually.

"In this way they succeeded, in spite of the heroic and courageous resistance of our troops, in occupying several places. Definite air superiority contributed to the success of the enemy."

SYDNEY, Australia, March 5 (AP)—A correspondent of the Sydney Daily Telegraph, just returned from Malaya and Batavia, said today he gave Java "two weeks of life at most' and predicted an attack on Australia's east coast.

On the other hand, Dr. J. E. Hoogstraten, director of the Dutch East Indies department of economic affairs, declared "there is a possibility that Java can be held."

"Whoever is going to give up in Java, it certainly will not be the Indies government," added Hoogstraten, who has just arrived from Bandoeng.

"The Dutch will fight to the end and the airmen will fly their obsolete planes until they are unable to take them off the ground," wrote the correspondent, Tom Fairhill.

JUNIOR ARMY IS TOLD HOW TO KEEP HEALTHY

Here is the ninth lesson in the Physical Fitness course especially prepared for Junior Victory Army members by Joe McKenney, associate director of physical education in the Boston Public Schools.

By JOE McKENNEY
Associate Director, Physical Education, Boston Public Schools

LESSON NINE

Soap and water plus air and sunshine is an excellent formula for a healthy skin. Water alone is not an adequate cleansing agent. It must be used with soap to clean the skin properly.

The following health habits should be acquired and developed by every member of the Junior Army.

1—Face, neck and ears to be washed at least twice daily with soap and water.

2—Hands to be washed frequently with soap and water, especially before each meal and always before handling food.

3—Always keep your fingernails clean.

4—Take a warm bath at least twice a week. A daily bath or shower is an excellent health habit to acquire.

5—Wash your hair and scalp at least once in two weeks. This is beneficial to the hair and not harmful.

DRINK MILK

6—Drink six to eight glasses of water daily.

7—Wash all fruit before eating to remove any poison chemical that might have been sprayed on it to protect it from insects or pests. This washing will also help to remove the dirt and bacteria it has acquired by handling.

8—Drink at least a pint and preferably a quart of milk daily. It is the perfect food.

9—Eat at least four eggs a week. One a day is preferable.

10—Two vegetables and a potato at some meal daily.

11—A citrus fruit in the morning or as a daily dessert.

12—Whole grain cereals.

13—Meat, fowl or fish not more than once a day.

14—Candy should be eaten after your meal and not before it. Candy should be an addition to your meal and not eaten as your meal.

15—Eat slowly.

CARE OF TEETH

A set of sound teeth is a valuable asset. Sound teeth contribute not only to your personal appearance, but also to the general health of your body. Defective teeth lead to many physical defects and impairment of your health.

Clean your teeth several times daily—i. e. in the morning upon rising, after each meal and before retiring at night.

See your dentist at least twice a year.

Chew your food well. This will exercise both your teeth and gums.

Sleep is very important—get at least 10 hours of sleep nightly. Eight hours should be a minimum.

Keep your room well ventilated.

Personal cleanliness is your greatest protection against disease. Acquire and develop these health habits.

(The best type of games to play will be described in tomorrow's Physical Fitness lesson.)

Italy's Morale Seen Cracking

CAIRO, March 5 (AP)—A traveler who arrived from Rome today said United States participation in the war has had a bad effect on Italian morale and has brought about an increase in anti-Fascist activity.

He said Count Carlo Sforza's "Free Italy" movement is gaining headway through underground channels.

(Count Sforza, former Italian foreign minister, now is in the United States as leader of the movement.)

Despite intensive efforts of the OVRA (Italian secret police), the traveler declared, the secret anti-Fascist newspaper Mateotti has a wide distribution. He said that King Vittorio Emanuele, Crown Prince Umberto and Premier Mussolini seldom were seen in public now, while Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, who appeared frequently, always is accompanied by half a dozen detectives.

He said the Italian people crowded churches and movie theaters in efforts to forget the war.

Dummies Trap 5248 in Libya

LONDON, March 5 (AP)—A British officer just returned from Libya said today 30 British artillerymen had captured 5248 Italians in the North African desert with the aid of 21 dummy soldiers armed with wooden guns.

The dummies were placed in positions to draw the Italian fire while the artillerymen advanced from another direction, declared Capt. P. G. Birkin.

The Italians, thinking they were being outflanked by a superior force, he said, retreated 10 miles and laid down their arms.

ABBOTT-COSTELLO HIT HELD OVER AT BOSTON

Woody Herman's Band on Stage

"Ride 'Em, Cowboy," Universal's newest Abbott and Costello screen comedy, has been playing a merry tune at the RKO Boston Theater wicket.

And so in typical Abbott-Costello fashion, it is being held over for the week beginning tomorrow.

The past week's stage and screen combination—if you haven't, you may still catch Hollywood's popular Dick Powell through tonight's closing stage show—did the season's biggest business.

For the coming week, the management has secured Woody Herman and his orchestra, picked as the band most likely to hit the top in 1942, to team with the Abbott-Costello screen hit.

Featuring the traditional blues, Herman's music is both danceable and swingable for it is rhythmic and melodic. Importantly spotted in this all-star musical revue are the charming Californian, Carolyn Grey; the "Girl With the Horn," Pilbe Rogers; Frankie Carlson, one of the band world's foremost drummers; "The Woodchoppers," Woody Herman's six-piece "band within a band," and his "Four Chaps." Muriel Lee, Ann English Brothers, comedy dance team and Pat Henning round out the bill.

A dude ranch provides the background for broadly burlesqued antics of Abbott and Costello in "Ride 'Em, Cowboy," for which Universal raised its production budget to make it more lavish than its predecessors. It has plenty of laughs.

Hardwicke to Star In 'All These Years'

Sir Cedric Hardwicke will be starred in the Jerome Weidman play, "All These Years," which Hardwicke will co-produce with Harry Kaufman. Lem Ward, who directed "Brooklyn, U. S. A.," will direct this one and is currently working with Weidman over the final production script in preparation for an early Broadway opening.

'New Hellzapoppin' Ticket Sale Opens at Majestic

Due to the earlier booking of Olsen and Johnson's stage production, "The New Hellzapoppin," with C. J. Flippen and Happy Felton, which opens at the Majestic Theater next Tuesday night, tickets could not be readied until this morning, when they were put on sale.

The management announces that more than six thousand orders were received in the mails and will be filled in order of their receipt.

This musical massacre, which is now in its 10th week of its record-breaking engagement in Philadelphia, has had three new things added during its Philadelphia run. One of these is a new character done by the famous Radio Rogues "the men with the thousand voices."

The second is done by Stephen Olsen, Ole Olsen's brother, who now actually plays 16 scenes in this world-famous revue. The third is a new song, sung by The Charioteers, the noted quartet made up of men each of whom has at least one college degree.

'My Dear Public' Here on Monday

The curtain rises tonight at the Shubert Theater, New Haven, on the premiere performance of Irving Caesar's new musical, "My Dear Public," where it remains until Saturday evening before moving on to the Colonial Theater, Boston, for a week's engagement, commencing Monday.

Mitzi Green, John Buckmaster, Tamara, Joe Smith, Cora Witherspoon, Charles Dale, the Revuers, Rose Brown, the Martins, Miriam LaVelle, and April Ames head a cast of 75, including a large chorus of Manhattan's most exquisite dancing beauties.

Others in the company are Karl Malden, Frederica Going, Eric Victor, Mark Platt, Katherine Mattern, Grace McTarnahan, Adia Kuznetzoff, John Frank, Stanley Jessup, Edwin Emery.

THEY WERE DANCING . . . when this shot of Amadoro and Emilio Fernandez, co-stars of "She-Devil Island," was made. This made-in-Mexico film and "Sins of Bali," are in their fourth successful week on Fine Arts screen.

Right Time to Knock, Gin Rummy Problem

Josephine Culbertson, famed authority on gin rummy, the fascinating card game now sweeping the country, tells you today how far to trust luck.

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Here is one of the paradoxes of the game of gin rummy: It is the object of each player to put himself in a position to knock, yet the knocker is at a slight disadvantage, arising from the fact that his opponent may lay off unmatched cards on his hand, while the knocker does not have the privilege of laying off on his opponent's matched sets.

Yet it pays to knock when the conditions are right, because the knocker stands to win so much more than he can lose. If he happens to catch his opponent, he can win 30 or 40 or 50 points, while when he knocks he can never lose much more than 10 or 12 points, even if the opponent ties or beats him.

There is, however, one situation in which you forgo the possible big score you could get by knocking, and hold on until you have a considerably lower total than you would ordinarily need to knock. This situation arises when your opponent has picked up a fairly large score and you have yet to win a hand.

Let us suppose, in a case of this sort, that the score is something like 64 to nothing against you. If your bad luck continues, and your opponent reaches the 100-point game before you have won a hand, he will have won a shut-out game.

SHUT-OUT GAMES COSTLY

The consequence of losing a shut-out game is that your opponent gets a 200-point bonus, instead of the 100-point bonus he would get for winning an ordinary game.

Losing a shut-out game is very costly. Your opponent scores 200 points as a bonus and at least 100 points he has piled up in winning the game, and 20 points for every hand he has won. If you can win a single hand, you save more than 120 of these points. Your first thought, then, when faced with the loss of a shut-out game, is somehow to win a hand.

The following hand always presents a problem.

6-6-6-6
Spade 4—Heart 4—Diamond 4
Diamond Q-10
Spade A—Club 3
You must discard. You could go gin with one card—the Diamond J—but only with that one card. Ordinarily, this is a very dangerous hand, since if you gamble on gin it may lead to your losing more than 20 points if your opponent wins the hand.

In most circumstances you would relinquish your chance to go gin, holding your low cards and dropping your Queen and ten on your next two discards.

SPOT FOR GAMBLE

If your opponent is far ahead and you are in danger of being shut-out, particularly if the score is 85 or 90 to nothing against you, you must let the three go and save the Diamond Q-10 in a desperate chance to win the hand.

Even this, however, can be affected by the previous play. If the Jacks of Spades and Hearts, for example, have been discarded it is a better gamble to hold the Diamond Q-10 than if no Jack has been discarded. When no Jack has shown, your opponent may be holding Jacks, and even if he draws the Diamond J he will not throw it to you.

When you are lucky enough to be far ahead and to have a shut-out game in sight, you should become conservative in knocking.

Here your objective is to prevent your opponent from winning a hand. Being far ahead, you are not particularly worried about how much he may beat you by; your loss will come if he beats you at all. Therefore, you should play for gin or refrain from knocking until you have a count of about 3 or 4 yourself.

BOSTON IS USED to a bumper crop of native grown skating champions . . . Hardly a season has passed since the days of the late Nat Niles that Boston skaters have not captured a number of the national championships.

But this year Cupid has lured our champions off the ice and down the aisle to the altar . . . So, finding themselves without a champ in junior or senior competition, Boston skating enthusiasts are turning their attention to some of the youngsters who show promise of being the champions of tomorrow.

A great many of these talented youngsters will have a chance to display their prowess on skates in the first carnival of the new Commonwealth Figure Skating Club to be held at the Arena tomorrow night . . .

One of the most appealing little participants in the amateur ice show will be wee Marcia Lee Beardsell of Brookline . . . Only six years old, she will cut difficult turns and capers in a scene depicting skating on Central Park back in the days of the Civil War . . . Befitting this old fashioned scene she will be dressed for her solo in ruffled pantaloons, hoop skirt and poke bonnet . . .

Daughter of William Lee Beardsell of Brookline, Marcia inherits her skating ability from her Dad who was captain of the Harvard hockey team in his undergraduate days

• • •

OF ALL the youthful skaters taking part in the club's first carnival, none will be prouder and more excited than Mary and Virginia Lapham, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lapham of Brookline . . . Their grandfather, the late Henry Lapham, had a lifelong interest in amateur sports and conceived the idea of forming the present figure skating club . . . His son, Raymond, and a group of other civic-minded Bostonians, carried out his idea and formed the club to foster the graceful art of figure skating . . .

Almost as busy as her debutante sister, Edith, who's head over heels in Vincent Club rehearsals, is 11-year-old Faith Winsor, daughter of Mrs. Robert Winsor of Boston . . . Faith is in the midst of perfecting her inside and outside turns on skates in preparation for her role in the carnival . . .

WITH THE STRAINS of the wedding march and best wishes of their friends still ringing in their ears, Ensign and Mrs. John C. White departed for California last night . . . They were married yesterday in a hastily arranged war-time wedding after having been officially engaged for less than a week . . .

The bride is the former Janet Harwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Harwood of Cambridge, who presented her to society last winter . . . For the 4 o'clock ceremony the bride was dressed in traditional ivory satin . . . her sister, Polly (Mrs. James Y. Deupree), came on from her home in Cincinnati to be matron of honor and added considerable color to the bridal party in her gown of turquoise blue faille with a bouquet and headdress of brilliant spring flowers . . .

Post deb Ann Folsom was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were the Misses Fanny Whitney of Lincoln, Helen S. Francis of New London, Betty Maynard of Dedham and Rosita Richmond of Needham .

Antiques Attract Many

Bostonians continue to flock to the Copley-Plaza to visit the New England Antiques Exposition which continues through this evening. An interesting feature of the show is the exhibit of replicas of the Crown Jewels of English monarchs, which is attracting the attention of many Bostonians who have been presented at the Court of St. James in former years.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertram K. Little, whose home on Warren st., Brookline, is a treasure trove of beautiful antiques which the couple has collected since their marriage, have been glimpsed browsing through the various booths at the show. Other antique collectors who have dropped in at the show are Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gann, Mrs. Arthur Greenwood, Miss Alice Winchester, Mrs. Jesse B. Cutler of Needham, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Shaw of Webster, Mrs. Joe Warren Gerrity of Newton, Mrs. Edward Sawyer of Newton, Mrs. J. A. Drew of Wellesley, Mrs. Horace Binney of Commonwealth ave., Mrs. Eugene C. Hultman, who wore a modish black costume trimmed with silver fox, Mrs. Ernest Rueter and Mrs. Edward Dana.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, THURSDAY, MARCH 5, 1942

OUR DAILY CITATION: To the daring American fliers who dived deep into a hornet's nest of Japanese mandated islands early this week and blasted 16 heavy enemy bombers out of the skies. This is the kind of aggressive action that will win the war for America and the United Nations.

WHAT are the courageous young men who are fighting with General MacArthur in beleaguered Bataan thinking?

What is the message they would give us if it were possible for each of us to cross the turbulent Pacific and be with them in that land of flying shrapnel and death?

Congressman Carl Hinshaw of California answers these questions dramatically and effectively.

He does it by giving us this letter which one of MacArthur's men wrote in a Philippine trench a few weeks ago and mailed to his parents in California:

"Dear Mother and Dad and my good friend The Censor,

"This is to let you know that I am still alive and kicking and expect to be that way when I reach home. I'll probably slip and fall in the bathtub after I get there. But I'll be ALIVE when I get back. I can't tell you anything because this is censored about three times. So I'll try to put down what I think won't be scratched out.

"Stan sent a telegram to his mother, and I hope she called you because he said I was safe. I don't know whether Stan is alive or dead now. I haven't seen him for two weeks.

"We who are with the planes have been separated from our regular outfit for about 11 days. We've practically been hiding from the enemy ever since the war started. We are so shorthanded that each man is doing the work of ten. And you can't accomplish much when you expect a rain of death from above every time you hear the drone of an airplane.

"I can tell you right now that, for the rest of my life, every time I hear a plane my insides are going to quiver from the thought of some of the smells and sights I've seen.

"The Philippine Islands might appropriately be called the slaughterhouse of democracy. I wish you would spread it around in that "arsenal of democracy" (so-called) that we could use a little help over here.

"I went through two visits from our 'little yellow friends,' and let me tell you here and now I'll never eat suki-yaki again. I'm going to hear the scream of falling bombs for a long time.

"Tell all the gang who work in defense industries that we boys who are crouching down here in the jungle when a slant-eye comes over would appreciate it if they took a little interest in their work and worked a little faster. And you might use a few swear words when you tell them.

"I might tell you that the place we were stationed is now nothing but blood and sand and a few smoking wrecks, but I won't, because the censor will probably cut it out.

"I'm glad to get out of there because it got kind of tiresome diving for trenches every few minutes and having to dig sand out of my ears for hours later. We have been isolated from all towns and villages, so I couldn't send a wire. All my belongings were lost back at the field. I have one pair of shoes, socks and coveralls to my name.

"Well, I must close now. Lord knows when I'll be able to write again. I love you both and I'll see you soon. JACK"

That is what our boys on the Pacific front are thinking. Next time you hear someone arguing that we can't save MacArthur and his men, remember this letter.

MANY AMERICANS ASK: "Why are so many young men turned down by the Army and Selective Service doctors?"

The answer is that the United States wants good soldiers, sailors and airmen. The nation does not care to have physically or mentally handicapped fighters who may needlessly endanger themselves and their comrades in battle.

Because of this aim, more than 400,000 of the first million draftees were rejected as unfit by local board and induction center physicians.

The greater number—nearly one-third of the 400,000—were the victims of simple poor nutrition.

These boys might have had strong bodies, good health and a reasonable freedom from an endless assortment of infirmities.

Instead, as a result of diets that gave them too many wrong foods and too few right ones or not enough of any nourishing food, they are weak and sickly.

This should interest all home-makers, mothers of young children especially.

Every home-maker should strive to give her family a better all-round diet, one that includes a proper amount of meat and an abundance of fruits and vegetables.

Setting an attractive table is not important. The worth while thing is what is ON the table.

Who could bear to lead an humbled life
Cursed with that veriest plague
A faultless wife.
—JUVENAL.

IN PROTESTING a suggested allowance of one pack of cigarettes weekly to soldiers, a government official styled cigarettes as "a luxury." To most soldiers tobacco is not a luxury but a necessity. And most certainly should be included in the rations allowance. In any event, nobody is really qualified to deliver an opinion on what a soldier needs in this respect except a man who has been a soldier himself . . . Few people have seen how they look when dancing. Everybody should. Have a motion picture taken of your husband and yourself dancing. You will find it interesting . . . And while the film camera is handy, lady, also have a rear view picture taken of yourself while walking.

JOE LOUIS is the only professional fighter I know of who never in his career fought a preliminary bout. All Joe's fights have been main events . . . That "Bundles for Congress" campaign started by irate citizens of Spokane, Wash., because of the matter of pensions for Congressmen really shook the boys in Washington up. It was an excellent example of what clever ridicule can do. The "Bundles for Congress" slogan that really got under the Washingtonians skin was "Forget Pearl Harbor — Remember Congress" . . . Note a number of male celebrities were asked to give their ideas as to what kind of hats women should wear. All the gentlemen expressed some ideas on the subject. Well, that's one thing in which I am different. I don't know anything about women's hats. I think women are chumps if they pay any attention to what the average man has to say about their hats. Wear the hat you like.

SIDELIGHTS: Way down in their hearts the Japanese and Nazi aggressors have always feared the fighting qualities of the United States and Gen MacArthur and his men are keeping that fear in the aggressors' hearts. It can also be said of our forces in the Philippines: "Never have we owed so much to so few" . . . As to Lieut.-Gen. De Witt, in command of the Pacific Coast Defense Army, Col. John R. Kilpatrick, who fought with De Witt in France, says: "He is a great fellow and a great fighter. You can depend on him as you can on MacArthur." I have known Col. Kilpatrick since I went to school with him at Andover. What "Kil" says is good enough for me. When De Witt's men recently let go with their anti-aircraft guns I am confident they had a good reason for it.

CUTE LITTLE TRICK: A cute little trick of Beverly Hills, Cal., who measures five feet three inches on her high heels says she is developing an inferiority complex because she has three brothers all over six feet and a sister who is five feet nine inches tall. She doesn't mind the tall brothers but her tall sister is getting all the breaks as to boy friends. That makes the little lady sad: "I am taking stretching exercises. These may do me some good," she says hopefully. She adds a P. S. "My family calls me 'Shorty.' I don't mind my brothers calling me that but when my sister says, 'Hey, Shorty,' I feel like slapping her face. But I just say: 'What is it, Stringbean?'"

ASIDES: A soldier writes: "My ideal woman is one 5 feet 7½ inches tall; ankles 8¼ inches; hips 36; bust, 36; neck 13½ inches. These are the measurements of my girl friend. And, boy, what a beautiful blonde baby she is" . . . Secretary Ickes has more living relatives than any government official in Washington, D. C. Mr. Ickes explains his multitude of relatives by the fact that his grandfather had 22 children; 11 by his first wife, 11 by his second . . . The Chinese army has for 2000 years had a bonus list for soldiers. Don't know that it is right now but couple of years ago it was: $5.80 for capture of a Japanese private; $14.50 for capture of a Japanese general; $23.29 for a machine gun; $290 for a plane, and $14,500 for a battleship.

GLAMOUR HATS FOR SPRING WEAR
"If You Like Them, Buy Them," Durling Advises

PLEASE NOTE: "Women are able to say the most pleasing things to men, and the most exasperating," observed E. W. Howe. To which observation most married men will answer: "He's telling me" . . . "What are the three most important things a woman must have to be happily married?" asks a young matron of Seattle. All I know about this is that our Horses & Women Research Dept. reports Matrimonial Expert Dr. Paul Popenoe once stated the three things are: 1—Satisfactory love life. 2—Social acceptance in the set of which the woman aspires to be one. 3—Satisfied ego impulses; that is to be somebody of importance as the result of her own achievements.

Broadway's Voice

COHAN REMEMBERS OLD FRIENDS

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, March 5—As the daily history of the grim ink of blood and tears, stories of victory and defeat are brightened by tales of individual great valor Names like MacArthur and Kelly become magnificent shining symbols of the courage of thousands of fighting men. These are great heroes.

There are small heroes, too. There is a quieter kind of heroism that has nothing to do with war or headlines or glory or violent death. We know it much better than we know the deeds of the brave in battle; perhaps that is why we never think of it as heroism, why we seldom notice the quiet heroes. But there are such. Small towns have them, and you probably know several.

SOPHIE TUCKER

Even Broadway, with its scheming and sham and selfishness and glossy trivia, has its heroes—more than I could mention here, many more than I will ever know about.

* * *

NAMES COME TO MIND when you think of the little heroes, the quiet ones. You think of the kind of people around Broadway, the ones whose helping hands extend to unfortunates such vital substances as room and board. Vincent Sardi, for instance. Sardi not only "hangs up" countless checks of unemployed actors, but lends them money recklessly. Only the other night I dined with a very famous lady of the theater who said laughingly:

"You know, I remember when I owed Vincent Sardi $190 just for food. I used to eat there myself and I used to feed all my friends there."

The Algonquin's famous Frank Case has never been known to turn a starving writer or a struggling ingenue from his hotel. Leo Lindy may not play the horses, but he has a great tenderness of heart toward the horse-player, and he takes care of them when Hialeah leaves them with nothing but a gnawing appetite.

Perhaps the most colorful of the group was the late Papa Strunsky, whose kindness and humanity as a Greenwich Village landlord is extolled by scores of writers, artists and actors who will be everlastingly in his debt. None of Papa Strunsky's tenants was ever evicted over the small issue of an unpaid rent bill. Ask Eugene O'Neill. Ask Lawrence Stallings and Maxwell Bodenheim and Maxwell Anderson.

You may not see the comparison between a restaurant keeper in peace time and a general in battle. But if you were alone in the big town and had not eaten for three days and were dog-tired from walking up flights of stairs to be told "no" and then suddenly you had a thick steak and fried potatoes and apple pie and coffee and a warm place to sit and a friendly smile, you would get the idea. The little restaurant man would not need any medals to look like a hero.

* * *

THERE ARE OTHER Good Samaritans on Broadway whose charity is legendary and heroic. George M. Cohan, Sophie Tucker, Eddie Cantor, Jack Dempsey and Fred Allen actually have what amounts to a pension list. Cohan's dependants are said to number almost 40; he hands them substantial gratuities in the form of pay envelopes. Fred Allen makes a standing joke of his hangers-on.

"One gun," he likes to tell, "couldn't come last week. So he sent his stooge."

As everyone knows, Eddie Cantor maintains a summer camp for underprivileged boys. Sophie Tucker mothers dozens of chorus girls, advises them, chides them, often buys them clothes. Few in need ever come out of Jack Dempsey's empty-handed.

* * *

AND THERE ARE other kinds of heroes along Bright Street. Tallulah Bankhead, a while back, went to Washington and single-handedly fought for the survival of the Federal Theater, possibly even to the embarrassment of her late father. A few years ago, Lillian Roth broke down completely before curtain-time on the opening night of a musical when news came that her fiance had died. But when she made her entrance, no one guessed the blow she had suffered. The audience found out at 11:15 when the news was out in the morning papers on the Times Square stands

You recall how Mary Martin went on in "Leave It to Me" to sing "My Heart Belongs to Daddy" a few hours after her father's death. Benny Goodman led his band for weeks writhing under the torments of sciatica. Mary Boland went on in "The Rivals" with a temperature of 104. Helen Morgan died penniless because she had been too generous while she lived.

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

EDDIE DOWLING'S ILLNESS is much more serious than a slight indisposition of the kind sometimes used as an excuse for cancelling theatrical productions . . . The former Providence mill-boy has been subject to attacks of the same illness for years . . . And his heart had been set on producing and starring in "Life, Laughter and Tears," a collaboration by the great Sean O'Casey and the great (question mark) William Saroyan . . . He was solely responsible for bringing the two playwrights together . . . O'Casey regards Eddie as the most congenial gentleman he has met in the American theater, although George Jean Nathan runs Mr. Dowling a close second in the Irish playsmith's affections . . . Furthermore, O'Casey thinks that Dowling has a high measure of "artistic integrity" . . . Against the advice of his physician, Eddie was determined to appear on his radio program Wednesday night . . . But this appearance would not mean that the cancellation of "Life, Laughter and Tears" was a stall . . . The truth is that Eddie needs the $1000 a week (minus taxes) that the radio performance brings him . . . Things have changed since Mike Meehan and John J. Raskob, acting as the song-and-dance man's financial guardians, saw to it that Eddie and his wife were jumped into the million-dollar brackets (on paper) in the booming Bull Market of the '20's . . . The Dowlings (and Mr. O'Casey will approve of this) treated their temporary and unsought affluence as something which was sure to be transitory . . . It was ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Enlistment in the armed forces of Jack Granara, popular Keith's press-agent, spurred his boss, Harry McDonald, to give a party solely in Jack's honor . . . For years, Granara has been catering to the whims of visiting stars and their interviewers of the press . . . The tables were turned at Mr. McDonald's party, and it must have been pure joy for Jack to relax and have his perennial guests of the Fourth Estate suddenly become solicitous of his enjoyment . . . The party also proved, by an almost unanimous turnout of the Boston by-line writers, that the Keith organization is losing to Uncle Sam one of the finest and most sincere young men ever to cajole space in Boston newspapers . . . Jack reports for active service next month, and his successor has not yet been announced.

Jack is on his first furlough from the Army, and is enjoying a belated honeymoon in Boston . . . He was married soon after his induction and reported back to camp after 24 hours' leave.

IF THE LATE EDDIE O'HARE, who was conceded to be the brainest of the shrewd crew who operate the country's dog-tracks, had been able to postpone meeting his Maker until today, he would probably have taken his leave of this vale of tears in complete happiness . . . Eddie idolized the son who has now become the No. 1 hero of the U. S. air-forces through his spectacular feat of shooting six Jap bombers out of the skies in one day . . . Young Eddie was navigator of the sea-going schooner-yacht which his father bought so that they could vacation together . . . Both O'Hares loved the ocean, although they hailed from fresh-water territory . . . When he was boss of Dighton (and a political power in Bristol County) Eddie O'Hare, Sr., kept a small fleet of boats of various descriptions . . . He used to spoof young Eddie by calling him "Admiral," but the younger man was fascinated by flying in spite of his father's efforts to keep him sea-minded . . . Frances Fay, who is now quite svelte—after the loss of nearly 40 pounds—will open at The Mayfair March 18.

FRED ALLEN MAKES UNIQUE DEAL

By Loucllo O. Parsons

Fred Allen

HOLLYWOOD, March 5—Just heard that Fred Allen will be heading for Hollywood this summer. Yep! It's a picture deal that is bringing him out our way—a contract with United Artists in which he will have his own production unit with final say as to story, direction and cast. I'll say to Fred: what I said to Jack Benny. Don't play yourself but get a good comedy, for all of our top comics including Jack, Bob Hope and Edgar Bergen, have done much better when they played fictitious characters.

Fred has a great knack at writing. I know when I was on his show with him how he wrote most of the script and the same is true of Edgar Bergen, who sees a laugh a mile away. These men are gifted and all of them should be on the screen, now for we need comedy as never before.

JEANETTE MacDONALD

JEANETTE MacDONALD knows now how it feels to send her man to war. Gene Raymond is leaving tomorrow to join the Air Force. Jeanette is trying to smile. But she says the house will be a lonely place without her husband. Gene goes into the Air Combat Division March 14. Where he is... I'm allowed to tell. But his is a fighting job with plenty of action. He is a first lieutenant. Jeanette told me that she starts her movie "Shadow of a Lady," in a few weeks and then she will go wherever Gene is stationed, remaining until he is sent overseas or Alaska or wherever he is sent.

You've seen news happen, been right on the scene when it occurred. Well, here is an unusual opportunity for you to make some money if you see or hear of news.

The usual $25 weekly cash awards for news tips offered by the Boston Record-American-Sunday Advertiser have been boosted to $100 each week for the next two weeks. In addition 50 pairs of guest theater tickets each week will be awarded for Loew's State and Orpheum Theaters where the picture "Woman of the Year" opens today.

If you are on the scene when something happens, get on the telephone and call LIBERTY 4000. Your news tip of a fire or an accident may win the top award. Send along any pictures you may make. We will develop the film.

The News Tip Editor has raised the awards for the next two weeks in connection with the showing of the M-G-M newspaper picture "Woman of the Year" with Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn. It's the story of a sports writer and his political-columnist wife, and authentic in its portrayal of newswriters' lives.

The most exclusive news and the best pictures submitted during the week will be given the highest awards. Other awards will be made for news tips and pictures of value.

When you see or hear of news make a bee-line to the telephone and call LIBerty 4000 and ask for the News Tip Editor. That's all you have to remember. We will do the rest.

Helping Community Pays

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

SEATTLE, WASH., WEDNESDAY — I have very little information to give you today, because when one spends most of one's time in a hospital not a great many things happen. I went in to see a young girl there, whose brother and sister telephoned to ask if I could not stop in because she had heard I was in the hospital. She is very ill, and they thought it might help her.

The child looked as though she had quite a high fever, and told me she was threatened with pneumonia. However, she seemed to be fairly strong, and I hope with all the modern treatments we have discovered for this disease, that she will come through it all right.

Yesterday, a young man rode up in the elevator with us. He told me that his mother had been in the hospital twelve weeks, and asked if I could stop in to see her. Twelve weeks is a long time to look at hospital walls, so I decided that almost any change would be welcome and knocked at her door late yesterday afternoon.

Her dressing table was covered with pictures of her grandchildren —perfectly lovely children—and so we had something in common to talk about at once. Then she showed me a picture of one son who is working with Ambassador Winant in London, and told me that her husband had been instrumental in founding the Swedish hospital, and that her other son was now on the board of directors.

It always interests me to see people who have put down roots in the place where they live; who have actually done things, not for themselves alone, but for the community. Even a village can provide one with a gamut of human emotions and experience. It has always seemed to me that, unless one becomes some part of community life, there comes a day when life ceases to have much interest. There are many times when thinking only of one's own affairs is so very dull.

But, the other day, he sent him one of the ten copies privately printed in February, 1942, by Doubleday Doran & Company. With it came a letter addressed to the President by Mr. Woollcott telling the circumstances under which the story came to be written.

The card accompanying the book is delightful.

I STOLE a little present, which had come to the President before I left Washington, and I must tell you about it. When Mr. Alexander Woollcott was staying with us this winter, he discovered that my husband liked Rudyard Kipling's writings, which is, perhaps, an old-fashioned habit. Mr. Woollcott asked if the President had seen one of the last stories that Kipling had written, called "Proofs of Holy Writ." My husband had not seen it, and when Mr. Woollcott tried to get it, he found it out of print.

Boston Airline Traffic Soars

The nation's airlines have proven indispensable in the war and production program and are now flying record mileage, said Harold Crary, vice president of traffic of United Air Lines, upon his arrival in Boston, today, conferring with H. Ainsley Highman New England executive assistant to the President, and Leon Mercer, district traffic manager.

United is currently flying 65,000 miles a day. There has not only been a substantial increase in passenger traffic, both government and civilian, but the war has also sharply stimulated air mail and express.

United Air Lines has pending before the Civil Aeronautics Board an application for a direct East-West transcontinental service between Boston, Hartford and Cleveland there joining United's transcontinental lines to California and Seattle. After the war, when transoceanic flying is routine, a great circle route from Europe to Boston and United's proposed short cut East-West transcontinental route to Chicago and West would be one of the most important aerial routes in the world, said Crary.

Fashion

WHITE HOUSE office workers about to show their passes at the closely guarded gates were observed for their indications of "favorite fashions" by Harper's Bazaar . . . and by an almost unfailing margin, tailored suits won the poll. Here are three of the girls, appearing in the February issue, wearing the "backbone" wardrobe suit. With topcoats thrown aside: Left, Glen plaid in grey and tan wool; center, another boyish type of gray flannel, with side fastening on the skirt; right, a feminine tailored suit of navy blue, white pin stripes and flashes of white pique.—ANNICE BRINK.

FLESHY WOMEN CAN WEAR SUITS; PICK CAREFULLY

By BETTINA BEDWELL

I FIND that quite a lot of women and girls who run to flesh have the notion that they can't wear a suit. It's like saying you can't wear a dress, or a coat or any other type of clothes. Anybody in the general shape of womanhood can wear a suit. It's all a question of getting the suit that is right for you.

A girl who is heavy, or a woman who is stout, but having a normally proportioned body can wear a suit without worrying particularly as to its cut. It is the ones with hippy figures, that tend to be small around the shoulders, or the ones with top-heavy bodies who have to pick a careful way around the suit departments.

If you have large hips and a small waistline, and a somewhat insufficient upper body, you'll look best in a suit with a jacket that is rather loose, and that is long enough to cover the rounding curve of your hipline.

Or you can wear the tunic jacket if you like it. You'll choose a skirt that looks slim, even though it has plenty of width to it.

If you are top-heavy, then you can wear a shorter jacket and a skirt that has some fullness to it, or a jacket with a flaring peplum, or a loose jacket.

NEWS FOR MODERN WOMEN

• FOOD •

By Martha Lee

THAT OLD-TIME SATURDAY evening supper favorite, the trusty bean pot, is making its appearance on the best of informal party tables these days. The modern version of baked beans is more savory than ever, for it boasts the glamour touch of a measure of mellow, fragrant sherry wine.

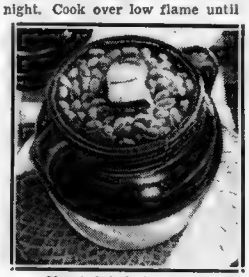
The nut-like flavor of amber colored sherry, a favored flavoring of all cooks familiar with the uses of wine in everyday and party cookery, adds an intriguing, tempting fragrance to the savory aroma of beans baking in a deep brown pot. And the fragrance of sherried beans a-baking is only the promise of the Epicurean pleasure in store for those fortunate enough to dine on this savory entree.

Sherried baked beans are prepared according to the cook's own favorite recipe for New England or Southern Baked Beans. Then wine is added during the last hour of baking. One cup of sherry is allowed for each pound of beans. Sherry wine may also be added to ready-prepared baked beans, and a thirty minute baking period is allowed.

SHERRIED BAKED BEANS

2 lbs. navy beans
½ lb. ham, cut in cubes
2 tsp. salt
2 tbsp. brown sugar
½ cup molasses
2 cups sherry

Soak navy beans in water overnight. Cook over low flame until skins begin to break. Combine ham with beans and place in bean pot. Add one cup hot water. Place salt, brown sugar and molasses over top of beans and bake in a very slow oven for six hours. Add small amounts of the wine to the beans at intervals to keep beans almost covered with liquid at all times. After the first six hours of baking, add remaining wine and bake another hour at a slightly higher temperature.



Sherried Baked Beans

For informal winter supper parties all that is necessary to complete a menu whose chief attraction is the bean pot, is a crisp fresh fruit salad and brown bread.

BOSTON BROWN BREAD

2 cups sifted flour
1 cup corn meal
2 tsp. soda
1 tsp. salt
½ cup chopped dates or raisins
½ cup chopped nuts
¾ cup molasses
2 cups sour milk

Sift flour, corn meal, soda and salt. Add fruit and nuts. Add molasses and milk and mix well. Fill greased pound-size molds or baking powder cans 2-3 full. Cover tightly and steam 1½ hours. Makes two 1-pound loaves.

Sherried baked beans are, of course, only a single example of an unlimited number of cooking miracles that can be performed by the addition of wine to simple, everyday dishes. In all the catalogue of meats, vegetables, fish and fowl—not to mention desserts and soups, there is hardly a dish that is not made more tempting to the palate of all true gourmets by the subtle flavor of wine.

Four bottles of wine—sherry, port, claret and such a white wine as hock or sauterne—are as indispensable pantry shelf flavoring agents as vanilla and spices to the cook who has learned the secret of wine cookery.

Nor is the use of wine in cooking a difficult science requiring much experience, for this flavoring may safely be added to the taste of the individual cook. And the economical price of domestic wines brings the use of wine in cooking well within reach of the carefully planned budget.

Wine service at table, or as an appetizer, in the case of sherry, also offers the enterprising cook an opportunity to use the left-over wine in the next day's cooking to the delight of the family or the flattery of the guests.

Beauty

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL—It's the rare type of person who can or should go rouge-less, says Arline Gould . . . and if your hand with such tinting tricks is none too expert, she tells of a new invention today, an "automatic rouge applicator." Michele Morgan poses in a smart new print hat that's a sophisticated version of the peasant kerchief.

AUTOMATIC ROUGE APPLIER IS REAL GIFT TO BEAUTY

By ARLINE GOULD

IT'S AMAZING . . . how one girl can take that gift of beauty to the colorless complexion, rouge . . . and apply it so it looks natural as dawn and twice as lovely. Another one can take the same rouge . . . and come out looking hard, frowsy and artificial!

The unsuccessful ones moan that it's a trick . . . that they can't possibly do it with good results. They're the ones who are flocking in to take advantage of a new "automatic rouge applicator" which works for them as a master hand might from a cunning palette.

It's a smart little invention which "controls" the amount of a very special, fine-textured powder-form rouge . . . resistant to moisture so you could go in swimming, or walk in an April shower with your complexion roses quite intact.

When you touch your cheeks with the new automatic rouge applicator," the velour-soft surface spreads the color as though it were an intangible glow, instead of a quite tangible powder. You'll be so overcome with the joy of this invention that you'll take to its companion invention, an automatic powder puff.

Besides spreading powder evenly so your nose doesn't get too much . . . it has another distinct advantage. You'll recall those hasty morning dabs with a freshly-loaded puff or the quick touch-up in the car or powder room when you looked down on your spandy fresh navy or black suit, only to find it sprinkled more liberally with the powder than your face itself!

It can't happen with the automatic puff, which feeds the gossamer stuff to the surface from the inside . . . no waste, no sprinkling.

You may buy the automatic puffs separately . . . but our vote goes to the artist make-up kit for $2.95, which includes a lipstick . . . and is a handsome thing indeed.

WHY HAS MAXWELL HOUSE COFFEE THAT EXTRA-SPECIAL RICHNESS?

From distant, sky-high plateaus Maxwell House brings you choice coffees—Central Americans . . . Medellins . . . Manizales—their flavor developed to thrilling perfection in the famous Maxwell House Blend!

• Fifty years ago a young Southerner named Joel Cheek blended the first Maxwell House.

Today his coffee is the world's largest-selling vacuum-packed brand. Yet each pound is still blended with the same traditional skill and care he used . . . to bring out all the heart-warming goodness of our choice, highland-grown coffees from Latin America.

For vigor, we select premium Central and South Americans—exquisite Mexicans . . . Costa Ricans . . . Guatemalas. For richness, the Medellins. For mellowness, the Manizales. For full body, the Bucaramangas.

These superb, upland coffees are always limited in availability in the United States. But fortunately our buyers are able to obtain ample supplies so that you can be sure of the same marvelous richness in every cup.

Today, ask for Maxwell House—a truly glorious blend of finer coffees.

Mexico: In the heart of the majestic Sierras grow coffees famous for their vigorous, winy flavor

Choose from these 3 SCIENTIFICALLY CORRECT GRINDS

Naturally, all coffee roasters—including ourselves—would like to put up a single "all-purpose" grind. But clever women know different coffee-making methods call for different grinds.

Therefore, Maxwell House offers 3 accurately correct grinds. Each is ground uniformly by precision grinders. This eliminates crushing, unevenness and waiting involved in store grinding.

Not only do you get better coffee by using the right Maxwell House grind for your coffee-making method, but you may also save money. As the directions on the tins show, Drip and Glass-Maker grinds give you the same richness with substantially less coffee than if you used Regular grind for these methods.

Don't Forget MAXWELL HOUSE TODAY GIVES YOU MORE FLAVOR FOR YOUR MONEY

Because . . .

- There's more flavor in the Maxwell House blend—it's far richer in highland-grown, extra-flavor coffees.
- All the marvelous richness of flavor is brought out by our special "Radiant Roast" process.
- No flavor can escape—it's sealed, roaster-fresh, in the famous super-vacuum, Vita-Fresh tin.
- 3 scientifically correct grinds—Drip, Regular, Glass-Maker—assure full flavor by any coffee-making method.
- For extra value, save money and save shopping trips by getting the thrifty 2-pound tin.

The Masked Jury

ANOTHER CHANCE?

DOES HUSBAND DESERVE IT?

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN OF THE JURY: My husband and I have been married five years. During this time I have never had any proof of his infidelity although I did think he might be the type to go out with other women.

When we're at home alone he eats his supper, reads the paper and then goes to sleep on the chair. When I ask him to talk to me he always says he's tired, but if anyone else comes in he laughs and jokes with them.

I always worked until recently. I quit my job because of the unwanted attentions of another man, but I never told my husband why. I quit except that I thought I had worked long enough.

However, I found out a week ago that he has been seeing another girl who works at the same place he does and has even made love to her. I would never have known about this affair except I found a handkerchief of his with lipstick on it.

I demanded an explanation. He told me about the girl but promised not to see her again. I love my husband just a little bit too much, I'm afraid, and this was a terrific shock. My husband swears he will never do this again but he's promised so many other things he's never kept. I love him very much but I can't help thinking something like this might happen again. Do you think he can be trusted to keep his promise?

Shall I take a chance with him (I really want to) or not?

L. M. A.

HOW THE JURY VOTED
Women	Yes—5	No—1
Men	Yes—6	No—0

MILLINER: Yes. If she really wants to go on with her husband there is nothing else for her to do.

HOUSEWIFE: Yes. The fact her husband admitted it should prove he's worthy of another chance. A lot of women have gone through that.

EDITOR: Yes. And it seems to me she might be letting her nerves and imagination get the better of her. Thinking of what might happen is a dangerous state of mind to fall into.

CIVIL ENGINEER: Yes. Of course, she is hurt by this, but when a woman loves a man she has to learn to take a little shock like that in stride.

STENOGRAPHER: Yes. It might not be so terribly serious as she thinks. She says in her letter that he is always teasing girls.

NIGHT CLUB ENTERTAINER: Yes. I don't know whether he can be trusted or not, but if I loved a spellbinder like that I'd take the chance.

COUNTRY CLUB STEWARD: Yes. Those gay boys are usually harmless. The fellow to worry about is the quiet, sanctimonious bird.

BUSINESS EXECUTIVE: Yes. After living together five years she should think enough of their marriage to give him another chance.

HOUSEWIFE: No, not if she can get along without him. Broken promises come too easy to some men.

FACTORY WORKER (woman): Yes. But I think she was foolish not to tell him about the other man. The husband would realize she was still attractive too.

DYEING SHOP OPERATOR: Yes. Maybe she could tell him that two could play the same game.

AUTOMOBILE DEALER: Yes. If she got him to confess she still has the Indian sign on him.

Romance

SECRETLY MARRIED

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'm A GIRL OF 19, secretly married to a boy three years my senior. We're living with our respective parents, as my widowed mother doesn't approve of him. He is a good boy and makes a substantial living.

Lately he has insisted that we make our marriage known so that we can be together, but I'm afraid to tell my mother because she has a weak heart and the shock might prove fatal. I love my mother but I also love my husband. What shall I do? TROUBLED.

It would be more of a shock to your mother if she learned of your secret marriage through someone other than yourself. Secret marriages have a curious way of becoming public property.

It would be well, it seems to me, to prepare your mother for this disclosure by telling her you have decided to marry, then break the news.

McGraw Knew How To Win

—By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER—

Distributed by International News Service

LET'S GET all our admirals and generals together and introduce them.

TELL THEM that teamwork means using the same toothpaste and not the same toothbrush.

TELL THEM what McGraw told his pitcher who took a full windup with a man on third. The runner stole home and the game.

HIS EXCUSE was he didn't know a man was on base.

McGRAW called his men together and said: "The next time a man gets on base you let the pitcher know. I don't want any secrets on my team."

WILLIAMS TO PLAY FOR RED SOX

SLUGGING TEDDY WILLIAMS
Decides to Play Ball This Year

By HERB FINNEGAN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 4—Ted (.406) Williams will play ball for the Red Sox this season. This was revealed here today after Tom Yawkey and Eddie Collines conferred by telephone with the lanky outfielder who is in Minneapolis.

Williams said that he had made up his mind that he will take a crack at playing in spite of all the controversy started quickly by reclassification from 1-A to 3-A in the draft. His deferment was the result of a presidential appeal board order.

"My conscience is clear," said Williams, according to the official Sox announcement. "I've given the matter plenty of thought and I believe I am entitled to deferment," declared Williams.

Yawkey, Red Sox owner, contacted Williams from New York while Collins, general manager, conferred from Boston.

Previously Manager Joe Cronin had arranged a meeting between Mickey Cochrane and Williams in Chicago. Cochrane, former Detroit Tigers' catcher and manager, took Williams on a tour of the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, and discussed the situation at length with Ted.

Cochrane himself is awaiting a reply from the Navy on his bid to enter service.

TODAY A YEAR AGO—Billy Conn knocked out Danny Hassett, Philadelphia heavyweight, in fifth round at Washington. Joe DiMaggio signed Yankee contract at reported $35,000.

THREE YEARS AGO—Dr. John Bain Sutherland resigned as head football coach at Pittsburgh after 15 years. Pitts' "clean up" plan created "intolerable conditions," Sutherland said.

Golf Club Members Cut $127,978 Melon

NEW YORK, March 5 (INS)—A melon totaling $127,978 will be distributed to 269 members of the Queens Valley Golf Club it was revealed today. The club at one time was one of the most exclusive in New York, but the land was sold in 1938 and sub-divided.

The first melon of $475.35 for each member was approved by the court as the governors and trustees of the club were relieved of further liability. Each member previously had received $1425 as their share of the sale price of the land.

DiMaggio Blasts Yanks; Gets '41 Pay Bid for '42

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, baseball's highest salaried player and No. 1 holdout, broke the silence surrounding his salary negotiations with the world champion New York Yankees today to tell why he has not signed for the 1942 season.

"I don't like to have to wrangle for my salary," he said, "but the only contract the club has offered me was for $37,000, exactly the same as I got last year.

"All I have told Ed Barrow (president of the Yanks) is that I deserve a raise. I didn't give him any figure, so it isn't true that I am holding out for anything exhorbitant. I simply said to look at the record and see if I didn't deserve a raise."

LED YANKS TO TITLE

The record would show that DiMaggio had an incomparable batting streak of 56 consecutive games last season, had an average of .357, hit 30 homers, led the circuit in runs batted in with 125 and was voted the most valuable player in the American League for his part in leading the bombers to their fifth world championship in six years.

"Did I get a bonus for my batting streak?" he repeated a question. "Hah. I did not. I didn't even get a pat on the back. Nobody even said thank you.

"The club made money last year; Barrow admits that. And it won the championship. Now it would be one thing if they offered me whatever raise they thought I earned, but I don't think it's fair to send me a contract for the same dough they were offering me a year ago.

HAGGLING UNPLEASANT

"Yeh, I know they say it is the usual procedure. But I don't want to have to argue for weeks every year for what the club ought to

Melrose Names Gavin Coach Of Grid Squad

A former assistant coach of football and the present head coach of basketball at Melrose, Gavin succeeds Harold Poole, who has been named assistant principal of the high school.

Gavin was captain and All Scholastic tackle at Latin in 1932. Following his athletic career at the Boston school, Dave entered Holy Cross, where for four years he starred at tackle on Crusader elevens. He was named All Eastern tackle and received All-America mention in 1936, his final football season at Mt. St. James. He graduated from Holy Cross in '37.

After graduating from Holy Cross Gavin coached and taught at Huntington School, near Springfield. The new head coach joined the Melrose coaching staff, as an assistant to Poole, in 1939.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 5 (AP)—Brown defeated Rhode Island State College, 83-82. Stanley Modzelewski had a shot in the air a moment after the siren sounded to end the game but most of the crowd didn't hear it.

Freshmen Eligible at Cornell

ITHACA, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—Cornell University is following the lead of four other Ivy League members in allowing freshmen to enter varsity sports beginning this fall.

The step, inaugurated by Dartmouth College and then adopted by Harvard, Yale and Princeton, grants first-year players opportunity for more than the two years of competition otherwise afforded them under the university's war-accelerated program.

Just One Little Day—But Big!

NEW YORK, March 5—We may be getting Louella Parsons' mail but one fan writes that he hopes nothing will be done about "Louis Pasteur" because he has already seen that picture.

Two other letters in Wednesday's mail were in a different vein. They were about Ted Williams, the great, young ball-player of the Boston Red Sox. We've never met Williams. We don't know anything about him personally. Nor do we know anything about the draft board that recently reclassified him after he had been put in Class 1A.

Ted Williams

We did see in the papers at the time it happened that the President had okayed Williams' reclassification to 3A. That settled it so far as we were concerned. In time of war, the President is Commander-in-Chief.

These letters seemed terribly unfair to us. Normally, we would have glanced at them, caught the tenor of their contents, and dropped them into the waste basket in which they belonged.

But we are afraid that they mark the beginning of a trend that is sure to grow unless something is done about it. One of the letters called Williams "a slacker" and "unfit to be an example for American boys." That isn't true. And isn't true on the face of the facts, as we understand them. But let us get on to our point.

The other letter, written with more restraint and in better taste and signed by the writer, which the first was not, simply announced that although the writer was a Yankees fan and an American League fan, he would not go to see the Boston Red Sox play again until Williams was in the uniform of a United States soldier or sailor.

It doesn't take much thinking to realize that the latter correspondent could just as reasonably have vowed never to drink another glass of milk (if he drinks milk) until some husky young milkman had switched from his wagon to a tank.

It is up to the baseball bigwigs to protect the Williamses of their game in the dynamite-laden circumstances that exist today. To protect them as well as to play 'em and pay 'em.

Still Life Beneath the Palms

But they can't do it sitting under the palm trees in Florida, trying to swap a dead-armed pitcher for a weak-kneed outfielder, and telling one another what a wonderful break Mr. Roosevelt gave 'em.

The President did, indeed, give them a great break. Probably no professional sport anywhere, any time, ever got a bigger boost from the head of a government. It was great, and all of us who love baseball were happy about it.

The unfortunate part thus far has been that baseball has seemed to accept it as its just due. To appear to take the position that now that Mr. Big had given it a pat on the head, that all was well, and that it could proceed as usual.

It can't do that. The Williams affair is only a straw in the wind and yet it is a straw that bears out what we have said so often in this space before: That organized baseball either must do something important in our national emergency, or lose so much face as the country's National Pastime that it may never regain its present position in the eyes of the public.

It is not for lack of a concrete plan or, at any rate, one concrete idea to which nobody has yet voiced any sound or serious objection, that baseball, thus far, has failed to do anything to catch popular fancy.

Or even satisfy, so far as I can judge from my mail, the feeling of the fans that this is the time for it to hit a big ball. I am told, unofficially, that Judge Landis takes the position that it does not come within his province as High Commissioner of the game to order, or promote, a National Baseball Day as part of the country's war effort.

Whose Province Is It Then?

Possibly Ford Frick and Will Harridge, presidents, respectively, of the National and American Leagues, feel the same way. In whose province then does it come?

Let me put the ball squarely into the hands of my friend, Frick, and stand him up here on the pitching rubber in this seventh inning crisis. We speak the same language.

I understand that Frick either has just begun, or is about to begin, a speaking tour through the Army camps of the South.

What more dramatic point could he make than that on one day during the coming season, baseball all over the United States is going over the top with every gun booming to produce a financial contribution for the war chest that would be worthy of the game he represented?

And it's all so simple. Actually, all baseball has to do is name the day. Every Mayor in every city and town, large and small, in the land would be for it.

There would be a band, two bands, in every park. There isn't enough band playing and parading in this war so far, anyhow. Tanks may win the land battles of this war. The "Queen of Battles," the infantry, may, indeed, be dead.

But there is nothing like foot soldiers, swinging down the street behind a band, to stir the pulse of the populace. We have been at war since December and I have yet to see even a likely looking squad and a bugle corps in the streets of New York City. American troops, that is.

Perhaps Mr. Sam Goldwyn would like to hold a certain number of premieres of his forthcoming Lou Gehrig picture in the larger cities on the night of a National Baseball Day. Why not?

It would all be so easy, gentlemen, so easy. Just one little day, BUT BIG.

offer in the first place. What's the use in sending me the same contract if they don't even expect me to sign it?"

Then the lean, poker-faced centerfielder, who has kept himself in condition bicycling, fishing and romping with friends at Lido Beach, 10 miles from downtown St. Petersburg, asserted that he was no nearer an agreement on terms today than he was when he left New York with his wife and baby nearly a month ago.

"I haven't heard from Barrow for about a week. He wrote me a letter and told me about war conditions and other things, but he didn't offer me even a little raise.

"So I haven't answered his letter. I haven't made up my mind whether to wait for him to do something or whether to make the first move myself.

JOE ON SPOT

"I'd like to get the whole thing settled and maybe I'll phone Barrow pretty soon and see if we can't do something.

"I'm on a spot. In the first place, Barrow tells me not to talk to newspapermen, and in the second place a lot of fellows making $21 a month in the Army are going to figure 'what right has a guy got arguing about that kind of money?'

"But I only want what is fair. I know some of the other players were given raises. I know the club made money and that I helped it. So all I want is to be paid what I'm worth."

DiMaggio declined to mention the sum he would like to get, saying "I think I ought to let Barrow know that first."

In New York Ed Barrow, the Yankees headman who plans to leave New York for Florida Tuesday, declined to comment on his star's holdout.

"I haven't heard from him and haven't a word to say on the subject," said Barrow. "It's strictly up to Joe."

SOX INFIELD PUZZLE FACED BY JOE CRONIN

By HERB FINNEGAN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 5—The Red Sox were scheduled to play their first practice game today, and it was due to be interesting to see how Joe Cronin would set up his infielders. There are 10 of them in camp, more than he's had here in years.

Tony Lupien, Jimmy Foxx and Paul Campbell are the first basemen. Bobby Doerr and Tommy Carey are the second basemen. Johnny Pesky, Eddie Pellagrini and Skeeter Newsom are the shortstops. Jim Tabor and Joe Cronin are the third basemen. That is, on paper they are.

JOE LIKES BIG FELLOWS

What the status of some of those players will be in another two weeks is a mystery even Cronin can't or won't tell.

Tabe, of course, was the club's left fielder until Ted Williams returned to the fold. And don't be too sure Tabe doesn't wind up in the outfield.

Cronin likes big fellows who can hit a long ball. Tabe not only can do that but he can run bases in the bargain. Ted Williams was an improved outfielder last year, and could be shifted back to right with Tabe in left. Lou Finney has been a holdout, you know, and may be penalized for it.

Cronin himself is in excellent condition, only a pound or two above his 192 playing weight. He never misses a turn in batting practice and is just as serious about his right field hitting as he has been in other years.

MAY SIT OUT YEAR

It just doesn't make sense that he'd punish himself getting into condition at his age unless he figured on doing considerable playing.

But where?

He's built more like a blocking back than a shortstop and can't move around with the agility of a Pelly or a Pesky. Third or first bases would seem to be the only spots left for him.

If Tabe plays third, it means Cronin will be sitting it out this year, and we doubt that's his plan. Could be that a trade is in the offing.

Foxx himself has been playing a lot of third base in practice. He played that position for Connie Mack one year and always was placed at third when Lou Gehrig played first in the All-Star games.

In our estimation he would have been a far better third baseman than first baseman because he gets in front of a ground ball at third, picks them up nicely and has as accurate a throwing arm as you could ask. And he did hit .300 and knock in 105 runs last year. That may not be the Foxx of 1932 or even 1938, but it's major league hitting.

Cronin himself announced during the winter that Lupien would be the Sox first baseman this year, yet Lupe didn't hit as well at Louisville as Foxx did in Boston. Don't count that position settled, either.

Cronin announced at the same time that Pesky would be the Sox shortstop this year and that he would step in himself if Pesky was called in the draft (he's 1-A) or didn't hit up to standard.

But he can't brush off a kid like Eddie Pellagrini who hit a ball over the 430 left center field fence his first day out, and who was rated the slickest fielding shortstop on the Pacific Coast last year.

It's a most interesting situation, all around, and we hope it's handled with more finesse than has been the pitching situation the past four years.

Otherwise the Sox may find themselves 20 games behind the Yanks again next August, when they ought to be battling for the pennant.

• • •

Of the 14 pitchers on the Red Sox roster, only Heber Dick Newsome, Mike Ryba, Charlie Wagner and Joe Dobson have spent one full season with the club and Dobson, Newsome and Ryba were brand new last year . . . That makes Broadway Charlie, now 26, the daddy of the Sox pitchers . . . Of the others, Norman Brown was down south with the Sox last year, Herb Hash and Bill Butland are making their third appearance here and Tex Hughson and Oscar Judd their second . . . Mace Brown, Ken Chase, Anton Karl are new comers . . . Yank Terry had a brief trial with the Sox in 1940, while Potter was picked up from the A's last summer . . . No club in either league makes such rapid turnovers with their pitchers as the Sox.

• • •

Mike Ryba reported weighing 196 as compared to the 210 he weighed a year ago. His best playing weight is 192 so he hasn't much reducing to do. He's been playing golf around his native Springfield, Mo., all winter and did considerable throwing in the basement of his home before reporting. Mike's always ready, physically. But we doubt that he'll be geared mentally for another two weeks because he's expecting the stork to fly over his home within that time. Mike has one child.

Art Ross Tags Brimsek 'Greatest Goalie Ever'

Boston Evening American Photo

VERY BEST—Frankie Brimsek, Bruins' goalie, termed the best of all time by Manager Art Ross. Brimsek's sparkling twine-tending has kept the crippled Bruins within shouting distance of the N. H. L. roof and may eventually land them home in second place.

"Frankie Brimsek is the greatest goalie I ever saw."

This simple statement of fact coming from Arthur Ross, vice-president and general manager of the Bruins, is the greatest boost Uncle Arthur ever gave one of his own players in all his years of Boston hockey.

In the course of general conversation Ross turned to great goalies. Art started reminiscing and said:

"I've seen a lot of great ones over 35 years. There was George Hainsworth who was with Toronto and Canadiens; George Vezina with Canadiens; Charlie Gardiner with Blackhawks; Clint Benedict with Maroons; and Alex Connell with Ottawa.

"Here are five goalies whose names have been written into hockey immortality and I know that fans throughout Canada and the United States may differ with me but in all due respect to the five goalies above—and they were all truly great—Brimsek is the finest goalie in the history of hockey.

KEPT BRUINS TOGETHER

"Any goalie who can turn in the performances he has shown game in and game out with the streamlined offensive tactics we use has got to be great.

"And during these past five games he settled beyond any doubt that he tops them all," continued Art.

"Imagine any team losing the Krauts, Clapper and Cowley in one blow and then having other men injured at the same time. Our squad was shot. Lines and defenses had to be revamped just at the time all our opponents were really moving down the home stretch on high with the playoffs ahead.

"Only the unbelievable work of Frankie in the nets kept us together as we were reorganizing our entire offense and breaking in new kids.

"Say what you will, I'll take Mr. Brimsek."

And Art Ross isn't alone in that opinion.

Even when the Bruins were rampaging through all opposition during the last two years, Lester Patrick, the Silver Fox of the New York Rangers, said sneeringly after one game:

"Sure, those Bruins are great—But get that Brimsek out of the nets and let me see them murder all opposition."

After the Toronto game last Tuesday night, Happy Day, Leafs coach, when asked if he was disappointed in the play of his club, answered:

"No, we played the game I expected but I've just about given up trying to figure how to beat that Brimsek."

On another occasion last year, Day remarked that the Leafs would have won the Stanley Cup but for Brimsek.

Even rival goalies have nothing but respect for Mr. Zero.

Johnny Mowers, brilliant young Detroit net guardian, was asked who was the better goalie—Turk Broda or Frankie Brimsek. The Mowers answer was terse but told plenty.

"Broda can't carry Brimsek's gloves," was the retort proper.

By this time you can easily see that Ross isn't swayed in his opinion by the fact that Brimsek plays for the Bruins. Hockey experts throughout the league rank him as the best in the business and he is that.

COCHRANE SAYS TED VICTIM OF BAD ADVICE

CHICAGO, March 5 (INS)—The elusive Ted Williams, pride of the Red Sox, has had his look at the Great Lakes naval training station, but returned to Minneapolis without announcing a decision on whether he would enlist, Mickey Cochrane, former Detroit catcher and manager, revealed today.

Williams, who flitted here and there about Chicago yesterday while reporters vainly were trying to locate him, was escorted around the naval training station by Cochrane, who himself is awaiting action on his application for a post in the athletic division.

The American League batting champion took a plane back to Minneapolis late in the day after Mickey had told him the decision was entirely in his own hands.

"The kid is in a spot and a tough one, too," said Cochrane. "He first was classified 3-A by his draft board. Then that was changed to 1-A, which meant he would be drafted before the baseball season started.

"Then a more recent ruling put him back in 3-A and announcement of his signing a Boston contract was made. He has a mother to support, and I believe there is a brother, too.

"Ted, who has been up in the majors only two years, tells me he has certain commitments based on this coming year's pay to take care of, but despite that he is willing to take his place in the armed forces.

"There's not a yellow vein in that boy's body. He wants to do his part. He has as much courage as anyone you can name. But he's had some bad advice, in my opinion. Yes, he's on the spot and the decision is up to him."

That Williams might enlist even though he has a 3-A deferment was first suggested yesterday by A. M. Gagen, hotel owner at Princeton, Minn., who frequently has fished and hunted with the Red Sox star. He said Williams indicated before leaving for Chicago that he intended to join some branch of the military service.

Slugging of Lombardi Good Omen for Braves

By BILL GRIMES

SANFORD, Fla., March 5—The big bat of Ernie Lombardi will break up many a ball game at Braves Field this summer if the veteran Italian's workouts thus far are any indication of the sort of year he will have.

This ball park is almost a replica of Braves Field and Big Lom is having no trouble sending the horsehide riding out of the lot.

"I feel better than I have in a couple of seasons," Ernie declared before today's workout. "Put it down in your book now that my batting average this year will climb back into the 300 mark if I can steer clear of injuries."

Speaking of batting, Jim Tobin has been riding the ball with all the viciousness of a Rogers Hornsby, and no one watching him at the plate would ever take him for a pitcher.

Jim, of course, has always been regarded as one of the top batters among National League pitchers, and has been used in a pinch-hitting capacity on many an occasion.

Tobin, like Lombardi, is in great shape. Both big fellows are several pounds lighter than they have been at the start of previous seasons and both maintain they plan to stay in top shape.

Another veteran in camp looking pretty chipper is Tony Cuccinello, back with the Tribe after a brief managerial career in the minors.

Bob Quinn got quite a laugh at Tony's expense when he greeted the veteran by remarking:

"Say, there, 'Cooch,' quit pulling in your stomach just because I'm around."

National Ski Races At Laconia-Gilford

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Clear the trails! Look out below! The biggest and most important ski meet ever to be held in the Belknap Mountains Area at Laconia-Gilford, N. H., is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday.

For the first time in history, the Winnipesaukee Ski Club has obtained the sanction for the National Four-Event ski championship. Charles M. Smith, president of this pioneer ski club, Vice-President Jason Sloan, and Meet Director Earl Chandler have completed arrangements with Roger Langley, president of the National Ski Ass'n, for this major ski meet to be run off in conjunction with the U. S. Eastern Four-Event ski championship.

OLA, SIGURD ENTERED

The National, which had been scheduled for the Donner Area in California, was cancelled recently when their main downhill course was closed by military authorities. Naturally, regretting California's misfortune, but not wishing to see this great meet lapse for 1942, the Winnipesaukee Ski Club sought out and obtained the necessary sanction.

All phases of the sport of skiing will be contested here—downhill, slalom, cross country, and jumping—with the emphasis on the latter. Sprinkled with stars is the entry list. Torger Tokle, the Belknap champion and the holder of the Winnipesaukee trophy, will definitely fly his winged boards against a large field. Torger hold the record for the hill, an amazing leap of 251 feet made last year in a blinding snowstorm.

Those sensational stylists, Ola and Sigurd, from the Royal Norwegian Air Force, Camp Little Norway, Canada, when told about the Belknap 60-meter hill and Torger's record, their faces lighted up, and they said:

"We'll be there!"

GIRL GREAT JUMPER

On alternate week-ends, Ola and Sigurd have a leave of absence from Saturday noon until Sunday night at 10:45 p. m. This will make necessary flying from the camp to an undisclosed New Hampshire airport, from which they will fly back after the meet. In this peaceful flight, as in their more serious flying to come soon, all sportsmen and skiers wish them happy landings.

Adding an innovation to the meet is the entry of Miss Dorothy Graves in the jumping. This girl from Greenfield, Mass., is "not just a girl competitor but a real jumper," as one old-timer put it.

Other famous jumpers who will be seen in action include Alf Engen, Art Devlin, Jay Rand, Roger Simpter, Crosby Perry-Smith, Hans Strand, Carl Holmstrom, Nick Nylund, and Kyrre Tokle.

OLYMPICS' FANS TO HOLD 'GERRY DESROSIERS' NIGHT

Coach Hago Harrington will have his battered Olympics back on the ice tonight in a practice drill which he hopes to re-organize his club for the Washington Eagles game in the nation's capital Friday night.

The locals returned from River Vale badly bruised after taking an 8-5 licking Tuesday night.

Following the Friday night game, the Pics will be back at the Garden Saturday night to face the league-leading New York Rovers who shut them out last Sunday 6-0 and, on Sunday afternoon, they entertain the River Vale Skeeters.

Saturday night will be "Gerry Desrosiers' night." The Cambridge athlete and former Boston University captain, will be honored by a large delegation of home town fans which will present Gerry a gift. Walter Brown will also be on hand to honor the Cantab who is the oldest player in point of service with the Boston club.

Bierman Coach For Uncle Sam

WASHINGTON, March 5 (INS)—Maj. Bernie Bierman, U. S. M. C. former Minnesota football coach, today was back at his regular profession—this time for Uncle Sam.

The Navy announced that Bierman will serve as director of athletics and head football coach at the Navy's newly established preflight training school at the University of Iowa.

Many athletes who have played football against Bierman's former Minnesota teams, and several players who performed under him, will play on the Navy team at Iowa.

Bierman will have charge of an extensive sport sprogram, including basketball, soccer, boxing, wrestling, swimming, track and baseball.

Harvard Frosh Five Set Scoring Record

With Hugh Hyde playing the hero role by tossing in 18 points, the Harvard varsity basketball team won the mythical Greater Boston hoop title at the Harvard Indoor Athletic Building by trimming B. U., 63-57. The win snapped the Terrier victory string at four games, and marked the first time this season that the Crimson has won two games in a row. In the preliminary contest, the Harvard freshmen walloped the Terrier pups, 85-54, the highest score any Harvard team has ever made, and the highest score ever made on the Harvard court.

OLD FOX BALKS AT LEONARD'S BONUS PLAN

AUBURN, Ill., March 5 (AP)—Emil (Dutch) Leonard, whose 18 victories for the Washington Senators last season, ranked him as the club's ace pitcher, is one 1942 holdout who isn't asking for a raise in his 1941 basic salary.

Leonard, however, has proposed a bonus be added to his 1942 contract—the added stipend coming to him at the end of the season provided the Washington attendance is above the 300,000 mark. This proposal, he said, has been rejected by Clark Griffith, his boss.

But Leonard has been in touch with Griffith and expected a telephone call today when, he hinted, an agreement may be reached.

"I won only 14 games in 1940," Leonard said, "and took a cut. Then I won 18 games last year—there weren't many pitchers winning that many—but I didn't get a raise. I think I have a raise coming and when I didn't get it I suggested the bonus provision."

The Senators' right-handed hurler expressed both surprise and interest when advised Griffith might offer him as trading material to Detroit for either Pitcher Buck Newsom or First Baseman Rudy York.

"I've pitched pretty good ball for a second division club for four years—64 wins, including 20 in 1939—and I think I could pitch just as good, if not better, with Detroit," Leonard said. "I don't want to say I'd be glad to leave Washington. I think the world of Mr. Griffith and know what he has done for baseball, but I've got myself and my family to look after."

Leonard, who operates a filling station in nearby Springfield, said he was classified as 3-A for military service. He is 31, married, has one son and also is the support of his mother and a sister.

CHAMPIONS TO PERFORM AT SKATE SHOW

Leading amateurs of New England skating clubs, including national champions, will compete tomorrow night at Boston Arena in the first Ice Revue of the Commonwealth Skating Club of Boston.

Among the top-liners will be the new national pairs champions, Walter Noffke and Doris Schuback, of Springfield, reputed to be the ablest skaters to hold the U. S. title in recent years.

The Skating Club of Boston will be represented by Miss Roberta Jenks and Miss Dorothy Glazier, two of the cleverest of amateur figure skaters, who have figured in national competition. They will each be seen in a featured solo.

Having a prominent part on the evening's program of events will be Wilhelm Junker who last year held the Eastern States men's novice title and who recently won the Eastern States junior championship for 1942. Junker is a member of the Commonwealth Skating Club as is Miss Doris Tufts, runnerup for the Eastern States junior championship. They will both skate in singles exhibitions. Little Jane Weiss, 12-year-old of Walpole, also of the Commonwealth Club, is expected to receive hearty applause in her singles exhibition.

5 Batterymen Answer B. U. Call

Four pitchers and one catcher answered the initial Boston University baseball call for battery candidates at the B. U. gym.

Of the four hurlers reporting, only one, Johnny DeGiacomo of Everett, is a veteran. The others are Bob Goldberg, Lynn; Frannie Curtis, Dorchester, and Bob McKeye, Boston.

McKeye and Curtis both pitched for Commerce High School. Goldberg toed the rubber for Lynn Classical.

Hank Sullivan, hockey captain, is expected to be the first-string catcher.

Coach Mel Collard came up with an innovation when he refused to allow any pitchers to throw a baseball around before at least three or four days of conditioning.

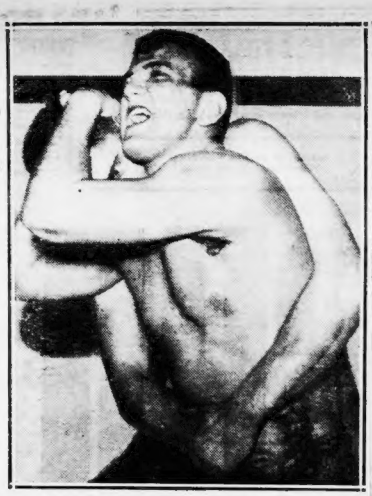
A.A.U. Tryouts Set for Monday

With a national boxing championship title as their goal, many New England youngsters are hurrying to the call for the first tryout tourney for the 1942 N. E. A. A. A. U. championships, to be held at Boston Arena next Monday night.

In both these tryout tourneys there will be bouts in the eight championship classes, 112-pounders to heavyweights. Every registered amateur boxer in the New England Ass'n of the Amateur Athletic Union is eligible to take part, and only by qualifying in these elimination shows will the youngsters, other than the eight winners of the Diamond Ring finals of last week, be able to battle for New England A. A. A. U. titles at Boston Garden on March 23.

The entries continue to pile up for next week's opening elimination show at the Arena. New entries announced yesterday include Walter Kijanka, Lowell, and George Baker, Lynn, two scrappy flyweights who will make the going most interesting for the rest of the class; James Lyman, Lowell, 118; Angus White, Framingham, in the 126; and George Perkins, Saugus, in the 135 pounds.



GIANT-KILLER is Dick Albion of Newton, Harvard freshman, shown applying ummph to teammate Doug Barr. Dick has found the broadest road to fame by pitting his 161 pounds against 200-pounders. Subbing for Frank French, regular freshman heavyweight, in three bouts, Dick won one, tied the other two.

HARVARD MAT TEAM FINDS 'GIANT' KILLER

"Color," said the artist, "is where you find it."

Without the assistance of an artist, color, in the person of Richard Albion, 161-pound Harvard freshman wrestler, can be found any day tipping over 200-pounders in the mat room of the Harvard Indoor Athletic Building.

The 18-year-old Newton lad, who inches up to five feet eight, is the gamest, roughest, toughest grappler ever to show on the local college mat scene.

"He beat the starch out of me and I loved it," said Albion yesterday. This statement, referring to a prcatice bout at Milton Academy two years ago when a teammate mauled him in what was his first try at any sport, typifies the Harvard giant-killer.

UNBEATEN WITH BIG BOYS

How nicely Dick combines his own inimitable version of Greco-Roman wrestling with a brilliant scholastic record was exhibited Feb. 2, the opening day of the second term, when together with a select half-dozen students from all over the world, young Albion was admitted to Harvard on the basis of highest scholastic honors at Milton Academy. Pausing only for lunch, he skipped up to the mat room, and tumbled his first college 200-pounder with ease.

While at Milton he was undefeated wrestling 175-pounders and heavyweights, Dick's first college effort was in his own weight class against an opponent from Governor Dummer. He lost by the barest of referee's decisions.

He exhibited a fighting heart one week later when, with regular heavyweight Frank French sidelined with an injury, he whipped a 205-pound Andover football star. Wrestling Emmet Pettit of Milton Academy, the teammate who two years before had "beat the starch out of me," Albion used his powerful legs to good advantage, escaping from pinning holds several times by standing up, a difficult feat in college wrestling. His efforts earned him a draw.

ANOTHER MICKEY WALKER

Grappling 197-pound Tommy Thomas of Exeter last week, he brought a large crowd, including Bill Bingham, Harvard's athletic director, to its feet with a display of raw courage that again gave him a draw.

Yesterday against Yale's Gene Smith, with French back, a 4-3 decision, almost equal in college wrestling to the flickering of an eyelash, deprived Dick of a win in his own class.

He is so close to the 155-pound overweight allowance that teammates are urging him to enter that class in the N. E. Intercollegiate championships at Wesleyan tomorrow. Mindful of his luck at 165, Dick may refuse. Even if he does wrestle at 155 or 165, this fighting bantam with the spirit of Albie Booth and a Bulldog Mickey Walker will look longingly at the final of the unlimited division, thinking —"just my meat."

CHURCHILL OUSTER HINTED, CRIPPS PROBABLE SUCCESSOR

tank replacements or aireraft parts.

The opposition was described as somewhat concerned by Beaverbrook's decision to remain in Britain rather than accept a job in the United States. This was based on a feeling that in taking full control of his Daily Express and Standard he would be able to bolster Churchill, who is the main target of criticism.

Just how strong this newspaper support may be is unknown, however.

Recently the Express commented that "taking the long view" of the war results in early defeats. It went on to score "planning for future campaigns."

In addition to desiring Churchill's downfall, the opposition was declared by the political observer to be eager for the finish of Admiral Sir Dudley Pound as first sea lord.

WANT ACTION NOW

The contention is that Sir Dudley has been antagonistic toward the RAF and the fleet air arm, to Britain's cost.

It is even asserted that somewhere in this reported antagonism lies the answer to the escape of the German battleships Scharnhorst and Gneiseau and cruiser Prinz Eugen through the Straits of Dover.

A 5-minute talk with the average enlisted man, taxicab driver or dock worker, the opposition also asserts, will indicate that these classes are fed up with a policy of "preparing for future offensives," that they would prefer a dangerous effort which might help end the war this year.

This feeling is said to find an echo not so much among the middle class, but among Peers and Members of Parliament, Conservative, Liberal and Laborite, who have protested for months against pedestrian progress of the war effort.

Besides The Times of London, which is said always to have evidenced a certain distrust of Churchill, and Leslie Hore-Belisha, former war secretary whose public following is large, great numbers of younger army, navy and RAF officers are listed among the elements out of tune with the Prime Minister.

The younger officers are portrayed as resentful of Churchill's presence at some staff meetings and his ability to exert pressure on the highest military councils.

Although Sir Stafford Cripps is not quite the man the Conservatives would have chosen, he has come to the front in a hurry and they believe the people would accept him and that once in power he would fight the war as they and the other opposition elements want it fought.

A war hinged on campaigns in 1942—not 1943 or 1944.

IS CHURCHILL ON WAY OUT?

Cripps Gets Post, London Hears

By DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, March 5—An extremely reliable and well-informed political source, commenting on the future of recent cabinet changes to quiet public and Parliamentary criticism of the government, said today there was every likelihood that Sir Stafford Cripps would replace Winston Churchill as Britain's prime minister.

SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS

This source went so far as to predict that the doughty Churchill, whose speeches pulled Britain together in the bitter summer of 1940 and made him one of the modern world's greatest figures, would be unseated within three months.

After bitter Parliamentary debates it must be emphasized, this source said, that while Churchill is vastly popular in the United States he has steadily lost the strength of his hold on the British masses since the fall of Crete last June.

Sir Stafford, on the other hand, has grown in stature as a result of his work as ambassador to Russia, a fact recognized by his recent appointment to the cabinet post of Lord Privy Seal.

The steady growth of an opposition group in Parliament, as described by the source of this speculation, is "all the more important since it transcends party lines."

He said the opposition to Churchill was dissatisfied primarily on these points.

1—Sending the Prince of Wales and Repulse to Malaya after asserted warnings that the big warships would find indifferent air support in those waters.

2—Placing Lord Beaverbrook in positions in which he allegedly alienated the fighting services and heavy industry.

3—The Prime Minister's exercise of his own judgment in conduct of the war.

Britons, this source asserted, remember the Churchill-suggested Gallipoli campaign in the World War and are not very strong for civilians overriding the opinions of military men who have studied war problems for a lifetime.

Lord Beaverbrook is admitted by the opposition to have made "a fine superficial showing" in his cabinet jobs pertaining to war production and supply, but they say forces in the Middle East have been fighting without
